Look Up to Local 'Sky High' Guys

One nice thing about being a fireman—you can always catch a cool breeze. John Gimont, president of the Empire Hook and Ladder company, goes 75 feet in the air on the ladder he climbs at fires. Leon Groff, left, works the ladder.

High-altitude carpenters Melvin Stroop and Wesley Larson erect a platform around the smokestack of the Pottstown Plating Works on South Washington street. Drop a hammer here and it halts operations for a half-day. And there's always the danger of accidentally nailing a cloud to a board.

The long July 4 holiday weekend ended after the weekend. has caused many organizations in the area to postpone meetings until a later time, after members return from vacations.

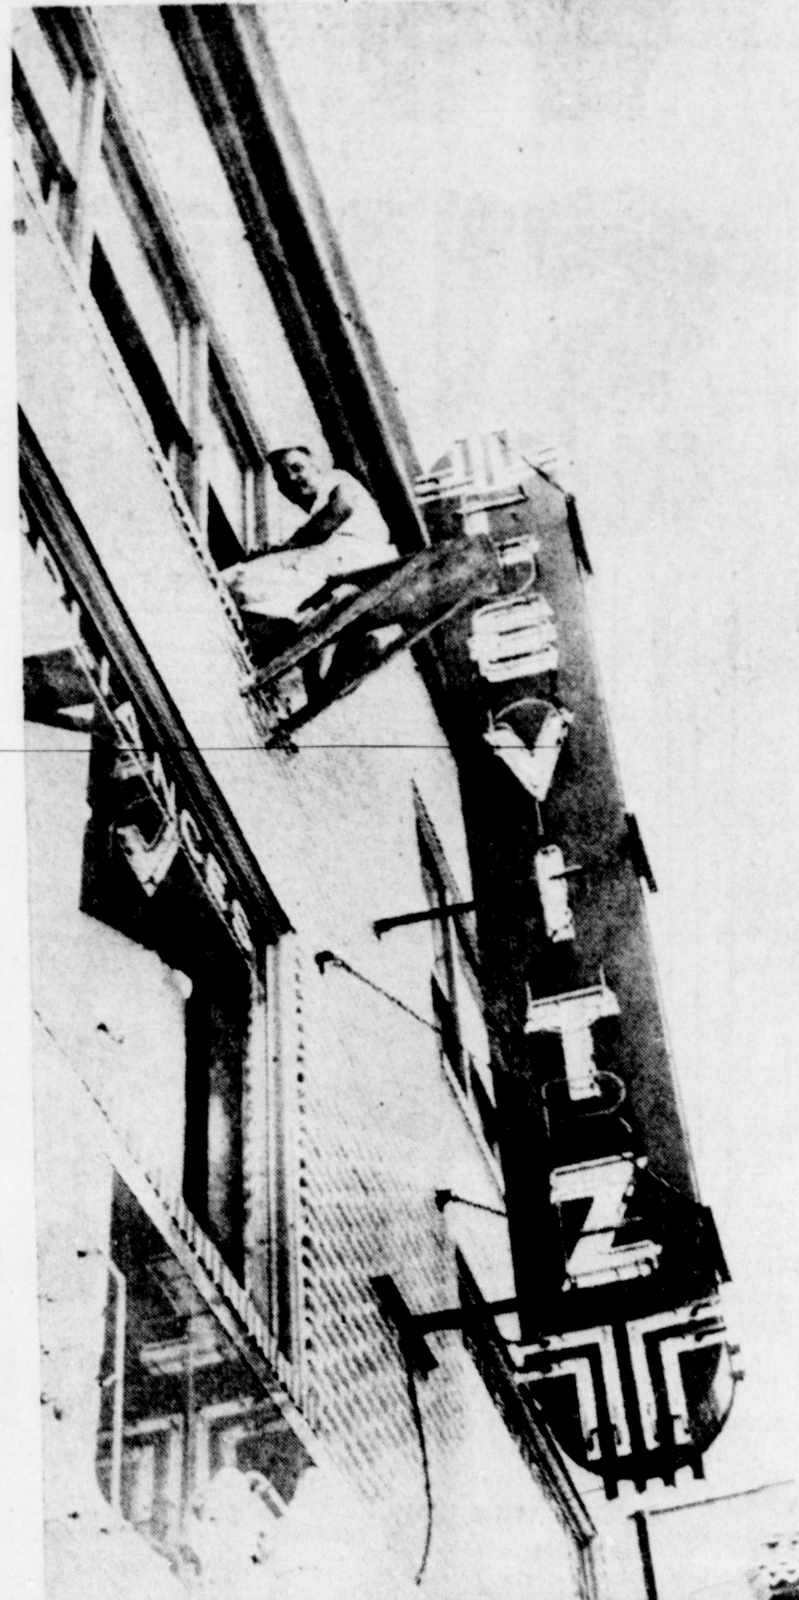

Maurice Miller, chairman of the borough Democratic committee, said that the meeting of the committee slated for last night was cancelled and would be rescheduled.

Nine area school boards have postponed meetings. South Coventry, North Coventry and Warwick boards will meet on Tuesday.

Members of the Bally, Amity, Lower Frederick Joint and Schwenksville school boards changed meeting dates until Monday night, July 11. The Lower Pottsgrove town-

Pat Colatosti, a Philadelphia Electric employee, is always "up in the air" about his job. In his world there are no traffic jams, no crowds, no pickpockets, no gum to step on. Steps become narrow pins and the ground is something you don't want to meet.

Looking down his nose at the world is Amos Jones, one of the Jones boys from Douglassville. From his lofty perch he is painting window frames. He has learned never to lean back to admire his work. Some people would consider it a silly way to make a living.

DESPITE THE holiday the Douglass, Berks and Montgomery counties supervisors and the Earl township supervisors will hold their regular meetings this Monday.

East Coventry and Upper Pottsgrove supervisors cancelled their meetings until Monday night, July 11. The Lower Pottsgrove town-

15-CENT HIKE ENDS STRIKE BY STEELMEN

Bethlehem Signs Pact, Ending Walkout By 600,000

MEN TO GET HOLIDAY PAY DESPITE DAY OFF

The strike against Pottstown's Bethlehem Steel plant ended officially at 4:57 p. m. yesterday when management and union negotiators agreed on an average 15-cent-plus hourly wage increase.

The agreement followed the same pact signed first by U. S. Steel negotiators and CIO Steelworkers representatives shortly before noon which brought the nationwide strike by 600,000 CIO steelworkers to a close.

A token picket line of some ten men remained on duty outside the Pottstown plant from the time U. S. Steel signed until the Bethlehem Steel agreement was formally sealed.

The first shift to report back to work was the 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. shift last night—a skeleton crew numbering about 100 men.

CHARLES A. HARTMAN, vice-president of Local 2177, said that no other shifts will work until Tuesday morning.

The company had scheduled Saturday, Sunday and Monday off for the Fourth of July holiday.

Water System To Be Improved By New Valves

The borough's water system will be improved in two weeks when three new gate valves—each worth $1500—are installed on the 20-inch line that runs along High street.

Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden said the work would be started on July 18. It will be done by the A. P. Smith Manufacturing company of East Orange, N. J.

Gulden said the valves now in the system are so old they don't work. When lines have to be repaired there's no way of stopping the flow of water.

He said the Smith company has equipment that permits them to install the three valves under water pressure. In other words, residents won't have to go without water while the work is underway.

It'll take one week to do the work. The council's water committee has approved the project.

One valve will be installed across High street from Pottsgrove Manor. The second may go in at High and York. The third location hasn't been decided on yet, Gulden said.

Weekend Forecast Brightens a Bit

Holiday weekend weather will be cloudy and hot, with temperatures hitting 86 to 92, but no rain is forecast.

Yesterday, gray clouds pressed a blanket of oppressive humidity down on the Pottstown area until the sun broke out.

Dawn came upon the borough in oppressive silence except for sprinkles of rain that started at 4 a. m. Pottstown gasped for a breath of cool air, but not a single refreshing breeze appeared.

Finally the sun broke through the soggy cloud-blanket at 11:30 a. m., but the mercury remained uncooperative.

Temperatures continued a slow climb through the 70s in the morning to hover in the middle 80s all afternoon.

Last night the mercury retreated to the 70s and a light breeze brought a fairly comfortable evening.

Bathers May Be Barred if Law Is Not Followed

By CARL A. HIGH (Mercury Staff Writer)

The Montgomery county commissioners were ordered by the State yesterday to hire lifeguards for the protection of swimmers at the Upper Perkiomen Park, Green Lane.

If they don't, the park may be closed to swimmers.

The action was taken after an investigation was ordered by Dr. F. B. Mattison, State secretary of health.

The commissioners were officially informed that the operation of a public bathing place at the park is in violation of State law.

They were further informed that they are responsible for any bathing that takes place in the park.

Speaking for the Department of Health, C. Karl Mason, director of the State Environmental Health Services, said yesterday:

"We are checking into a complaint that there is a public bathing place there that doesn't have the proper safety precautions."

"THE DAM was erected and then the commissioners posted signs saying that bathing would be at the bathers' own risk."

"But we feel that for the safety of the swimmers, that either the area should be closed or proper safety precautions should be taken."

The word was passed to the commissioners by Christian T. Beechwood of the regional office of the bureau of Sanitary Engineers of the Department of Health, which has jurisdiction over Montgomery county.

"UNDER INSTRUCTIONS from Harrisburg," Beechwood said yesterday, "I informed the commissioners that they are violating the law in operating a public bathing place without having a permit."

"I also advised them that they are responsible for any bathing"

Borough Begins To Feel Pinch Of Holiday Exodus

Pottstown residents were among the thousands of persons who jammed area roads and railroad stations late yesterday afternoon and evening as the annual Fourth of July exodus began.

Resorts along the New Jersey and Delaware shores apparently were the most popular destinations according to traffic reports of State police.

Traffic was reported heavy in an easterly direction along Routes 422 and 202 and Route 30. Police at Thorndale barracks in Chester county said the rush began to die down somewhat about 11 p. m. They also noted heavy truck traffic in their area.

Pottstown will be a somewhat deserted town over the weekend as stores, offices and factories are closed down for the long three-day holiday.

Fire Siren Lets Loose Early Toot for Holiday

Getting a head start on the Fourth of July noisemaking, the fire horn atop borough hall let loose with a series of jarring blasts yesterday morning.

Perhaps it got its dates mixed when it noticed the flags going up along High street in preparation for the holiday.

The first toot echoed through the borough at 8:21 a. m.

Then followed a succession of intermittent blasts shortly before and after 11 a. m.

After all that practice, the horn should be ready for the real Fourth when it arrives Monday.

Everything for a Picnic Food Markets Boost Stocks In Preparation for Fourth

Pottstown housewives will find food prices steady when they invade local markets for the makings of holiday meals today.

Prices on most Summer food items have either remained at the past week's level or dropped slightly, store managers reported last night.

Some stores will run special sales on prepared meats for Fourth of July menus. Wiener rolls are up slightly over the past week, but few other items are.

"We have plenty of everything for the holiday menu," Ivan B. Leaman, manager of the A & P market, commented. "All we need now is lots of customers."

LEAMAN SAID his market will have special sales on turkeys and hams, which are in plentiful supply.

John Dusko, Acme market manager, said his store is stocking all types of cold cuts in meats.

"We know lots of people will be packing picnic baskets for the Fourth, or fixing barbeque dinners in the back yard," the marketman explained, "so we're ready for them."

Dusko said he also expects a

Lifeguard Need Spurred By Close Call

While arguments for and against having lifeguards at Upper Perkiomen park reached fever heat this week, another drowning nearly occurred in the lake, it was learned yesterday.

A 13-year-old boy, on a Sunday school outing, struggled for long minutes in the waters of the lake before he was rescued by other bathers.

The boy, David Howe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Howe, 715 Haverford road, Bryn Mawr, was taken to a hospital for an examination Thursday after his ordeal in the water.

He was one of 300 members of the Saints Memorial Baptist church, Bryn Mawr, who had come to the park on their annual Sunday school picnic.

HE AND his friends were playing with a big plastic ball in the lake. Not a very good swimmer, David was standing in shallow water while his friend in deeper water tossed the ball in his direction.

The ball wasn't thrown very hard, and David had to swim out in water over his head to recover it.

As he was coming back with the ball, he was seized with fear and fatigue.

"I was trying to swim, but couldn't get anywhere," he said yesterday.

"I TRIED to yell for help, but couldn't yell loud," he said.

In the midst of David's struggles, a young companion, Jimmy Hodge, attempted a rescue.

A smaller boy than David, Jimmy tried desperately to hold him above the water using the ball for support. But his frantic efforts failed, and David slipped from his grasp, going under

WOMAN TRAPPED IN CAR CRASH

Auto Rams Tree; Driver Pinned Behind Wheel

A 33-year-old Fleetwood RD 1 woman received a deep laceration of the right thigh and possible fractured ribs of the left side last night when the car rammed into a tree on a deserted back road three miles north of Oley.

Mrs. Irene Egrie was on her way to work in Boyertown when the accident occurred between Lobachville and Pleasantville.

She was taken to Memorial hospital by the Reading Hose company ambulance after being found by passing motorists pinned behind the wheel of her car.

The accident victim was in a state of shock and could only mutter something about "working the third shift" when she was first discovered.

STATE POLICE at Reading said the front of her 1953 sedan was demolished by the force of the crash.

Mrs. Egrie was driving alone toward Pleasantville when she struck a tree on the right hand

Republicans, Democrats Join in Move to Kill Dixon-Yates Project

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The Dixon-Yates private power project, a storm center issue between President Eisenhower and public power advocates for more than a year, was wobbling on its last legs today.

In Congress, key Republicans joined jubilant Democrats in a move to withhold funds for a power line to link the private project with the government's Tennessee Valley Authority system.

These funds, 6½ million dollars, are crucial. Unless they are provided, even if the Dixon-Yates plant is completed its power would be left stranded in the middle of the Mississippi river.

And within the Administration, officials began a new study, directed by President Eisenhower himself, to decide whether to scrap the contract so stoutly defended by Eisenhower for many months.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS in Congress said the project is doomed. They predicted the Administration would abandon it. But even if the Administration persists, they said, Congress will see to it now that the project is killed.

These and many other developments stemmed from an announcement by the city of Memphis, Tenn., that it will build its own power plant rather than accept Dixon-Yates power.

Foes of the project, joined by some former supporters, concluded that in the light of this decision the Dixon-Yates plant is no longer needed.

The hotly disputed contract calls for private utilities, headed by Edgar H. Dixon and Eugene A. Yates, to build the 107-million-dollar plant in West Memphis, Ark., across the Mississippi river from Memphis.

THE CONTRACT with the Atomic Energy commission would funnel this Dixon-Yates power into the TVA system to replace TVA power consumed by atomic plants elsewhere. But the key point is that Dixon-Yates power was destined to relieve a shortage within the Memphis area.

Tennessee and Memphis officials, as well as Democratic leaders generally, have argued the private power would be more costly, would enrich the utilities, and would be an opening wedge to destroy public power and the TVA.

The Senate appropriations committee voted to withhold the 6½ million dollars for the TVA transmission link to Dixon-Yates "if in New York, Edgar H. Dixon, president of Middle South utilities, said, "as far as we're concerned we still have a contract with the Atomic Energy commission calling for completion of the first unit of the plant by August, 1957, and we will continue to go ahead."

Judge Escapes Bullets

New York State Supreme Court Justice Hamilton Ward of Buffalo examines a bullet hole in a side window of his automobile. House Backs President On Military Reserves

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The House gave President Eisenhower a dramatic new victory today by breaking an anti-segregation impasse and then passing his bill to build up a trained military reserve of nearly three million men.

Stassen Steps Down, Asks Free Asia Aid

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—Harold Stassen stepped down as foreign aid chief today with a plea that America concentrate most of its aid funds in Free Asia "for a long time to come."

A few minutes after he submitted his final report to President Eisenhower, former Republican congressman John B. Hollister took over as his successor.

With Eisenhower and most of his cabinet looking on, Hollister, 64, a Cincinnati lawyer friend of the late Senator Taft, became head of the government's newest agency, the International Cooperation Administration.

With the start today of a new fiscal year, the old Foreign Operations Administration headed by Stassen went out of existence. Most of its functions were transferred to the new agency under Hollister in the State department.

MARINE FLYER FOUND DEAD; HUNT GOES ON

TOKYO, Saturday, July 2 (AP)—One of four missing Marine air-men was found dead yesterday in the wreckage of his jet plane on a little volcanic Pacific island normally skirted by fliers because of tricky winds that swirl crazily above it.

The unflagging hunt for the three others entered its sixth day with at least 12 planes and 13 ships maneuvering in a criss-cross pattern through a 16,000 square mile area south of here. Weather was clear.

"The search must go on as long as there is any hope," said an Air Force spokesman, "and there certainly is hope."

The body found was listed tentatively by the Marines as that of Lt. Alan M. McAneny, Yonkers, N. Y.

He became lost in haze Tuesday while hunting for Capt. H. P. Montague of Jackson, Miss., and Lt. David Winton Bell of Minneapolis, whose disappearance Sunday in a twin jet Skyhawk fighter touched off the search.

Pretty Blond Faces Noose July 13; She Ignores Last Chance to Appeal

LONDON, July 1 (AP)—A beautiful platinum blond, Mrs. Ruth Ellis, passed up today the last chance to appeal her sentence to hang July 13 for killing her lover because he jilted her.

The deadline expired at 3:30 p. m. "No further statement will be made," said one of the ex-model's attorneys who announced ten days ago she would not ask for a new trial. It appeared she had little will to live.

Mrs. Ellis, 28, a divorcee with two children, could yet escape the gallows. Queen Elizabeth II may grant clemency upon recommendation of the home secretary.

In all but the most vicious of crimes, the home secretary usually reprieves women murderers. A well-known figure in Mayfair nightclub life, Mrs. Ellis was convicted June 21 of killing David Blakely, 25, a racing motorist, outside a London tavern on Easter Sunday. She had fired four bullets into his body.

Her only defense was that she was provoked by jealousy. She paid the rent on their apartment, gave him money and clothes, but he still went out with other women, she said.

Policeman's Killer Dies

Firing Squad Executes Neal

China Red Cross Says Turncoats Cause Disturbance

TOKYO, July 1 (AP)—Peiping radio tonight said some of the three American and two Belgian ex-soldiers due to leave Red China soon have been drunk and disorderly and have insulted women and police while awaiting exit.

A broadcast, heard here, of a statement by Lin Shih-hsiao, vice secretary general of the Red Cross Society of China, said Otho G. Bell of Olympia, Wash., was arrested Wednesday because he "abused and committed provocative acts against passing citizens and the policeman on duty in the street, and threatened them with assault."

Louis Verdyck, one of the Belgians, was arrested June 19 "for disturbing public order," Lin's statement said.

The other Americans, Korea war prisoners who chose life in Red China over repatriation and then tired of it, are Lewis W. Griggs of Jacksonville, Tex., and William A. Cowart of Dalton, Ga.

He said the five were brought to Peiping June 7 for arrangements for their departure.

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah, July 1 (AP)—A volunteer firing squad killed Don Jesse Neal at dawn today in retribution for the murder of a Salt Lake City policeman.

The State turned Neal's body over to a gray-haired widow who was no relation but said she befriended him as "one of God's fellow creatures" and finally came to love him as a mother.

A black hood covered Neal's head as he sat strapped in the bullet-nicked execution chair at Utah State prison.

Only the twitching of his arms betrayed taut nerves.

THE DARK-HAIRED, 35-year-old San Francisco man lurched against his bonds as four bullets—a fifth rifle was loaded with a blank—crashed into the black, heart-shaped target on his chest at 8 a. m. (Pottstown time).

Two minutes later he was pronounced dead.

Neal swore he was innocent of the shooting of Police Sgt. Owen T. Farley on May 23, 1951. He claimed a woman companion, Mrs. Wilma Tully, who testified against him and then disappeared, was the real killer.

Farley had arrested the two for investigation of an Ogden, Utah, motel robbery, and was taking them to the police station when he was shot.

Pilots Fly To Death in Formation

LISBON, Portugal, July 1 (AP)—Eight Portuguese fighter pilots rode to death in formation in American-built Thunderjets today.

They crashed in a thick fog in mountain country—one four-plane flight above the other—while on the way from the Ota Air Base to an Air Force show at Coimbra, an ancient university center 110 miles northeast of Lisbon.

The blast and flames of the crashes carried aloft to four fellow pilots flying top cover for the 12-plane squadron. All these emerged unscathed. One was Capt. Rangel de Lima, the squadron commander, known as "Lucky Lima" for his narrow escapes in the past.

"The worst has happened," Lima said.

THE COMMANDER said the eight jets hurtled into the 1500-foot high Sierra Dos Carvalhos, blanketed and invisible in the fog.

He signaled his three followers to return to their base and sought vainly to establish radio contact with the men below. His calls went unanswered.

Col. Ponte Rodrigues, commander of the Ota base, said the crash was the worst in Portugal's Air Force history. A parallel case in Sweden killed four Swedish jet pilots May 2. Caught in a fog, the Swedes plunged together through the ice of Lake Glotten.

The Portuguese dead ranged in rank from corporal to lieutenant, in age from 21 to 26. Three were married.

One Killed, 29 Hurt As Train Jumps Track

WATSEKA, Ill., July 1 (AP)—One man was killed and 29 persons were reported injured today when a Chicago and Eastern Illinois train carrying 110 passengers was derailed at Papineau, Ill.

The dead man was identified as William Dick, of Evansville, Ind., conductor of the train. Three of the injured were kept in Iroquois hospital, Watseka, for treatment.

The Chicago-to-Evansville local train, consisting of a diesel locomotive and three coaches, tipped on its right side, blocking the main street crossing at Papineau, some 13 miles north of Watseka.

Annual Tradition

North End Children To Parade Monday

When they hear the rattle of toy drums and the toots of toy bugles Monday morning, Pottstown's North Enders will know for sure it's the Fourth of July.

North End children have paraded through that neighborhood on every July 4 since 1949. It's getting to be a North End tradition.

"When the children grow up maybe we'll have a real parade down High street on the Fourth," speculated Daniel Pettigrew, 816 North Evans street.

Pettigrew is unofficial organizer and piper of the young marchers. He gets the parade going with a whistle and a toot on a 1918 toy bugle.

"I'll start out at my house on Monday at 9 a. m. with just my children and a few neighboring youngsters," he announced. "We'll pick up the rest of the kids along the parade route."

DALTON FINE and Chippy Peroni will be among the early marchers, along with young Daniel, Mary and Nancy Pettigrew.

They will carry American flags and toot a patriotic tune on toy bugles from the five and ten cent store.

Soon others will join in, bringing any musical instruments they may have—real or imitation. Before long, Pettigrew expects to have several hundred children joining in just as in other years—on foot, on bicycles and pulling decorated wagons.

Pettigrew started the tom thumb parades when he lived on Spruce street, just after moving to Pottstown, and each year he keeps up the tradition.

"My late father always did that on the Fourth of July," he explained. "He thought it helped the children learn the importance of the holiday, and so do I."

Route of the informal paraders will be south on Evans street to Wilson, east on Wilson to Franklin, down Franklin to Prospect, east to Washington, down Washington to Wilson, west on Wilson to Spruce, across Charlotte to Diamond, left on Diamond, up Feist avenue, right on Prospect down East street to Spruce, right on Spruce to Diamond, and out Diamond to Charlotte, then back to starting point.

EXODUS—

Many of the released office and plant workers are expected to travel by train. The Reading company added extra coaches to its regular runs last evening.

Frederick Kendall, local agent, said last night additional coaches will be added to trains this morning and extra bus runs will be made if traffic warrants it.

An additional train will run at 7 a. m. Monday, July 4, to the coal regions, he added.

People seem to be traveling all over, Kendall commented, with some buying tickets for as far away as Arizona, South Carolina and the Middle West.

FEDERAL, STATE and local government offices will be closed over the Fourth. The liquor store will remain open its regular hours of 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. today, but will be closed Monday.

Borough garbage collectors will have a holiday on the Fourth, too. They will begin collections at 10 p. m. Sunday night instead of Monday, so home owners who want to get rid of garbage over the weekend should place it outside Sunday night instead of Monday.

Local parks and swimming areas will be jammed as Pottstonians who aren't away at mountain or seaside resorts try to cool off.

Many persons will attend club and community association picnics and festivals. Among these is the annual Fourth of July Community Picnic in New Goshenhoppen park, East Greenville, which will be climaxed by a display of fireworks at 9:45 p. m.

The event is sponsored by the newly-organized Upper Perkiomen Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' association. In case it rains, the affair will be July 5.

BOARDS—

ville will conduct business on Tuesday of this week. On July 11, members of the Pottstown Board of Health will meet.

The next meeting of the Elks lodge is slated for July 18.

Building Permit Issued for Home

Wilson Weidner, 505 North Hanover street, received a permit yesterday from the office of Building Inspector Arthur S. Kepner to build a new home along Wilson street between Farmington avenue and State street.

The home will cost $8500.

Another permit was issued to Norman Leister to demolish a frame building at 833 Queen street.

Charles W. Guss, 838 High street, received a permit to alter his home at a cost of $1000.

N. Douglas Ottinger, 60 Cedar street, received a permit to alter his home at a cost of $500.

ANOTHER permit for home alterations was issued to Daniel L. Biting, 235 West King street. The work will cost $2600.

Marian Mack, 468 North Manatany street, received a permit for converting a room in her home to a beauty parlor. The work will cost $100.

MASON WAS referring to the Public Bathing Law which defines a public bathing place as "any place open to the public for amateur and professional swimming or recreation bathing, whether or not a fee is charged for admission or for the use of said place, or any part thereof."

Since the park's opening in 1940, thousands of area residents have made use of the bathing facilities, which include bath houses and well-kept sand beaches.

But there are no lifeguards posted at the park. And since 1940 there have been five drownings, the most recent being this past June 20, when 14-year-old Catherine Giovinazzo, North Hills, died tragically in the waters of the lake.

The hiring of lifeguards is an essential part of State rules for the operation of a bathing place.

THE REGULATIONS say that one or more competent lifeguards shall be on duty at the beach at all times when the bathing place is open for use by bathers.

"These lifeguards shall be capable swimmers," the rules say, "and shall not be assigned other tasks that will divert their attention from the safety of the bathers."

The rules also stipulate that the water used at all bathing places shall be of a quality acceptable to the Department of Health, and the department will determine what purification processes, if any, are needed to accomplish this end.

There are also rules pertaining to the types and location of drinking fountains, the provision of adequate toilet facilities, and the installation of electrical equipment.

ALL OF these things, and more, are evaluated by the State when an application is made for a permit to operate a public bathing place.

But the park has no permit from the State, as was revealed in Thursday's Mercury.

And George A. Elias, head of the State's regional office, said Thursday that to the best of his knowledge no application for a permit had ever been made during his long service with the State.

Yesterday, Fred C. Peters, president of the board of commissioners, said that the commissioners would meet next week with Elias to discuss the State regulations for operating a public bathing place.

THE MEETING of the commissioners to discuss the lifeguard situation at the park yesterday was cancelled.

As of yesterday, the possibility of the lake water being unsafe for swimming was still a riddle.

Elias said that to the best of his knowledge, the water had never been tested by his office.

Another unofficial source said that the water had been tested many times and found to be polluted.

HE SAID further that State law forbids the posting of lifeguards at a bathing place until the water is declared free of pollution.

Otto Quinke, superintendent of the park, said that the streams leading into the park had been tested "some time ago."

"Everything was found to be all right, as far as I know," he said. But whatever the condition of the water, it can't remain a mystery for long. For the State requires extensive tests be made of a lake, and its sources when an application for a permit is made.

Three Property Owners Obey Notices By Cutting Overgrowth of Weeds

Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden yesterday investigated the properties of the three owners who had been sent "final" weed notices. He said that the excessive growth of weeds were cut, and no fines would be imposed.

They will be billed for the work with a 20 percent penalty added, and if payment isn't forthcoming, the properties will be liened.

Murray is also hired to cut the weeds on borough property.

THIS INCLUDES cutting around streets where there are no sidewalks, and cutting the fields around the borough's water tank and two reservoirs.

Gulden said yesterday that so far no work has been done around the water works property.

He said that Murray was given a list this week of all the properties to be cut, including the borough property as well as the private property of owners who ignored the weed notices.

The six properties Murray is cutting in accordance with the weed notices are three lots along Grove street belonging to Casper Puche, Norristown; Joseph Flak, Brooklyn, N. Y.; and George Gruscz, Staten Island, N. Y.; a lot on the Northeast corner of Lincoln and Washington streets, belonging to Fred Otterbein, Ontario, Canada; the Monroe Bergey estate, 517 Chestnut street; and the property at 412 Walnut street, belonging to Mrs. Lulu Ladner, Philadelphia.

His widow and Dr. Irving L. Ershler who took over Dr. Haft's practice when he died in 1952 wanted to give it to Israel. But red tape surrounding international shipments of scientific equipment stopped them.

It was surplus, because Dr. Ershler had his own machine and it lay in storage until Mrs. Silverman came to the rescue. She packed it in two 25-pound units and took it as hand luggage on a trip to Israel. She reports the crates proved a bit uncomfortable sliding around the stateroom in a heavy storm, but she tells how Dr. A. Abramovitz met her at the dock to say there was urgent need for the machine.

Dr. Ershler says he was able to tell Mrs. Haft that her husband's machine, with his name plate still on it, was in active use before she died in a hospital here.

It SHOULD be a good weekend for hamburger sales," he observed. "And I even sell the grills on which to cook them."

Appropriately enough, July has been designated National picnic month, and the days ahead will see Pottstown families enjoying outdoor meals at the beach, in the mountains and at parks as well as at home.

One plain and one fancy item tops the list of foods that are plentiful in July—potatoes and ice cream.

Potatoes will be very abundant this month and at reasonable prices. You'll have plenty for those cool and satisfying potato salads—or for roasting and baking in the open fire.

High milk production assures an ample supply of ice cream. Milk and other dairy products will continue plentiful during the Summer, providing refreshment and health in one package.

Four Hours After Youth Buys Car, It's Rammed Broadside by Another

The 1946 sedan of an 18-year-old Pottstown youth was damaged badly in a two-car collision late yesterday afternoon just four hours after he had purchased it.

It was the first car David H. Schoenly, of 1017 Queen street, had ever owned.

He was driving north on Henry street when his car was struck broadside by a sedan operated west on Norris street by Walter H. Reber, 309 West Chestnut street.

Reber told police he didn't see Schoenly's approaching car because of a high hedge at the southeast corner of Henry street. The accident occurred at the intersection of the two streets.

The front half of the right side of Schoenly's sedan was damaged and the wheels were thrown out of line. The complete front and both front fenders of Reber's car were crushed.

The accident was investigated by Motor Patrolman Robert D. Scheidt.

for the second time.

"I spit up a lot of water before I went down that time," David said yesterday.

HE SAID that he stayed down for a "long time" after he slipped out of Jimmy's grasp.

Finally, an adult bather who had come from a distance, grabbed the lad and brought him to shallow water.

"He seemed awful tired himself," David said describing his rescuer.

Then assistance came from two other men, who carried David to the beach for first aid treatment.

ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION was applied until guards brought an oxygen resuscitator, which was used for several minutes.

The dramatic near-drowning and rescue occurred at 2:20 p. m.

Shortly afterward, David was taken home by friends. When his parents heard of his experience, they took him immediately to the Bryn Mawr hospital where he was given a thorough check-up.

David said yesterday that he felt "all right," but his stomach was still unsettled from swallowing so much water.

OTTO QUINQUE, superintendent of the park, said yesterday that after Thursday's frightening affair he issued orders to the guards to prohibit ball playing in the water.

He said that the guards' orders also include putting a stop to bathers jumping off each others' shoulders and all forms of rowdiness "whenever it comes up."

The park has 16 guards to keep order and regulate parking of automobiles, but no lifeguards for the protection of swimmers.

Bees Take Over Home; Owner Gets Free Honey

HUDSON, N. H., July 1.—One of these days Raymond Pool may be able to write a book on what it's like to live in a beehive.

At first, the bees just moved into his house. Now he's practically living in theirs.

The bees moved in three years ago, setting up housekeeping in the walls and ceiling. Now their toil is beginning to show in honey cozing through walls and ceiling of the living room. He has tried various eviction methods. He even thought of tearing down part of the walls but the trouble is "you just can't get that close to them," he says.

License Bureau Records Indicate Upswing in Number of Marriages

Marriages seem to be on the upswing this year, according to the six-month totals recorded by the Montgomery county marriage license bureau in Norristown.

For the first half of 1955, there were 1265 applications filed in the office as compared to 1144 for the similar 1954 period.

June again held the spotlight as the month of brides with 339 permits issued to couples during the 30-day period.

For the entire 1954 period there were 2285 licenses sought.

The monthly totals for 1955 include: January, 144; February, 124; March, 137; April, 244; May, 277, and June, 339.

Monthly totals for 1954 were: January, 112; February, 162; March, 109; April, 207; May, 253; June, 299; July, 167; August, 216; September, 254; October, 185; November, 199; December, 150.

Saturday Sermon

The Ten Commandments

"THOU shalt have no other gods before me" is good economics as well as good morals.

Putting the service of God first in one's life is likely to bring the abundance of other things which the Scripture promises.

The reason for this is obvious. Serving God very largely relieves one from worry and strain; it results in health and a good mental attitude.

On the whole, people who worship God are healthier, happier and more successful than those who do not.

It is good economics as well as good morals to love one's neighbor as one's self. The businessman who strives to serve is much more likely to prosper than the man who operates on a selfish basis.

Having respect for one's elders, honoring one's parents, that is, learning all we can from human experience, is conducive to success in material affairs and is, therefore, good economics as well as good morals.

Refraining from sexual misconduct frees men and women from tension, anxiety and the disorganization of their lives, and enables them to integrate their personalities and focus their energies upon more important affairs.

The man or the woman who respects the marriage vow is much more likely to succeed in business than the one who disregards it. Here again we see that good morals and good economics are the same.

One rarely succeeds in business who does not establish a reputation for honesty and truthfulness. The Commandment against bearing false witness lies at the very heart of a successful business career. It is a question of morals, to be sure, but equally a question of economics.

One who rests at proper intervals and worships God is much more likely to develop proper mental attitudes and sustained constructive energy than one who neglects to rest on the Sabbath Day and to develop an attitude of reverence and worship toward God. Again we see that good morals are likewise good economics.

Coveting, stealing and murder are just as much violations of economic law as of moral law. Such practices can no more be made right by majority vote than the moral law itself can be changed by that method.

The more we consider the Ten Commandments the more we see how they are the basis of economics as well as morals.

When this becomes clear to us we stop thinking in terms of right, left and middle, and begin to think in terms of right and wrong.

We don't recognize any middle-of-the-road with reference to the morals of lying, stealing, coveting, murdering, committing adultery and disrespect for our parents and neither is failure to observe these standards acceptable in our economic activities.

Once we gain the concept that moral law and economic law come from the same God, are essentially the same and apply to all human beings, we shall lose much of our confusion and uncertainty about economic practices.

We can't change economic law by conferring power upon government any more than we can change moral law.

We can violate either if we wish, but in neither case can we avoid paying the penalty.

Those Good, Old Days?

BY this time, in those Pottstown days before the family automobile, they'd be erecting the stand on High street for the Fourth of July patriotic speech.

The orator was florid of language and overly longwinded, especially for us young fry waiting for the fireworks display. The speaker would remind us of the freedom and the opportunity that was ours by reason of our citizenship, of the greatness of the nation, of its dedication to God and to justice.

The vision and heroism of those who made the United States possible was not overlooked. We all swelled to a great feeling of pride and patriotism over being a tiny part of it all.

The Fourth of July orator has gone out of style. But there still is a great need for us to be reminded that we are privileged to be citizens of the United States; that our country is great, that it is a bright inspiration for millions who hope to achieve freedom that is ours.

The good, old days? There's no substitute for the patriotism the old Fourth of July celebrations produced. Today let us count and treasure the blessings our form of government makes possible.

Editor, The Mercury,
Dear Sir 'n' Brother:

Wal, I see by the papers where the Fourth of July holiday is off with a bang. The law won't allow celebrators to shoot each other any more. Now they kill each other with automobiles!

Orioles prefer to nest in trees and not in the cellar and that's a scientific fact—no matter what the standing of that Baltimore team may lead you to believe.

And say: One of the local vacationers, back from an early jaunt, says he found a lake so small a Pullman car had never been named after it!

Park Needs Lifeguards—Plus Public Co-operation

More Supervision Needed

To the Editor: Since the unfortunate drowning at Montgomery county park, I have been following the discussion with keen interest as to whether or not lifeguards should be hired.

I am quite sure that we all agree that they should be hired. But we must not assume that the problem ends here. I agree wholeheartedly with the director of the park that parents get careless when lifeguards are on duty. Many parents think they are babysitters.

Consequently, I would like to add that lifeguards alone do not, under any circumstances, solve the problem. However, with proper supervision and correct co-operation from the parents, less drownings will most likely be the result.

It would be nice to say that no drownings will occur, but this is an impossibility.

We must all remember that water safety is everybody's job, not just the lifeguards.

Japan Wants Troops Out Despite Gratitude

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, July 2—The question of withdrawing American troops from Japan has become a serious issue at Washington and Tokyo, now that the Allies have promised sovereignty to Germany and neutrality to Austria.

Despite their gratitude for our post-war help and generous treatment of them, the Japanese government and people want us to get out, and to remove these soldierly symbols of their utter defeat in World War II.

The diplomats seem to favor withdrawal, although Secretary John Foster Dulles has not committed himself to that extreme viewpoint.

Their argument is that the elimination of American military in Japan would tend to counteract the present peace offensive which Moscow and Peking are waging in Europe and the Far East. It would blunt charges that the United States plans a war over Formosa and allied problems in that area.

DIPLOMATIC OPINION: If the announcement of such a retreat from this Asiatic outpost should be made before the Big Four Conference at Geneva, as certain diplomats have suggested in advance to Washington, it is believed that it would place the Soviet negotiators at a great disadvantage. They would certainly offend such recent peace gestures as the Red departure from Austria, the tete-a-tete with Tito, and Moscow's disarmament offer.

The diplomatic argument is compelling, as those who uphold it are well acquainted with Asiatic conditions and psychology. They insist that there is no danger or imminence of a Russian or Chinese attack on Japan, and that there will not be such a menace for many years.

Moreover, if Moscow or Peking should seek to gain control of these strategic islands, the United Nations and the United States, as in Korea, would resist the invasion from bases in South Korea, Okinawa and the Philippines.

In short, a descent upon Japan would provoke World War III. In view of Britain's vast interests from Hong Kong to Singapore, England would assuredly come in with us, which Prime Minister Anthony Eden has indicated his country will not do for defense of Formosa and the Pescadores.

INSUFFICIENT FIGHTING FORCES: The diplomats also point out that, despite our boasts of our Far Eastern chain of defense, extending from Alaska through South Korea, Japan, and Okinawa to Australia and New Zealand, we do not maintain sufficient troops in the area for effective resistance. In addition to maintenance personnel at air and naval bases, there are only about one-and-a-half divisions in Japan, and two divisions in South Korea.

Moreover, the United States has defensive treaties or agreements with Japan, South Korea and the Philippines, and the Southeast Asian Defense Force has been created to protect that territory against a Red onslaught. In every way possible, diplomatic and military, we have indicated to the Reds that we would consider aggression against these countries as a cause for war. So far, our determination in this respect has prevented Mao Tse-tung from an attack on Formosa, or even the Matsu and Quemoy Islands.

Finally, the diplomats argue that Japan will never regain full confidence, rearm and rebuild her trade and economy so long as she feels dependent upon the United States. Our demands that Japan raise a powerful defense force meets tremendous resistance from the government officials and the people generally. They are trading upon the knowledge that the United States regards their islands as essential to our national security.

SOME WOULD-BE humorists spout a chain of vulgar stories, at least in front of male audiences, for the men will laugh self-consciously, if not from the wit displayed.

And even a moderate intimation of taboo subjects keeps up the audience and produces greater laughter.

Unfortunately, many modern playwrights are filling the legitimate stage with excess vulgarity and profanity, relying on the guffaws of half drunken spectators to prove their dialogue gets results.

A higher type of real wit or humor is based on a surprise ending of the O. Henry sort where maybe the final word gives the unique twist to the preceding paragraph.

Or an indirect thought process must intervene in order for the listeners to get the point.

For example, a farmer chided his hired man for being an hour late in driving the team and wagon home from town.

The hired man protested that it wasn't due to his stopping at the saloon. Instead, he had picked up the parson two miles down the road, and thereafter his mules couldn't understand a thing he said to them.

Park Needs Lifeguards—Plus Public Co-operation

says, the leagues absolutely refused to pay the charge for the tax.

This just doesn't make sense. If the league bowlers won't pay it, where will they go? The club alleys, I understand, are filled most of the time.

Well, the bowlers should be forced to pay the tax. They just won't throw away their bowling shoes and quit. They would pay if forced to.

How come it took all this time for the operator of the alleys to raise such a fuss about this tax?

The discussion of the tax on bowling, as reported in The Mercury, left me with these questions unanswered. I am a taxpayer, too, and don't want to see any source of revenue cut off.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

PHYLLIS G., aged 22, is attending a prominent school of journalism.

"Dr. Crane, what is the basis for humor?" she asked me after a recent lecture I gave on the campus.

"My father says our local newspaper used to run a humor department and welcomed contributions from the public."

"It finally was discarded, but Daddy says he thinks it was certainly well read by the general public."

"Is there much of a market anymore for jokes and anecdotes?"

And serious-minded introverts, such as scientists, engineers and musicians react differently than a crowd of salesmen to the same jokes.

The simplest form of humor is thus supposed to be the pun, which involves using words of the same sound but employing a different meaning.

For example, the president of a men's luncheon club in Ohio, recently introduced me by saying:

"Gentlemen: this honor I have of introducing Dr. Crane makes me feel like the firefly which backed into an electric fan—I am delighted no end."

Since he had set the stage appropriately, I replied by saying that I relish making my speaking trips except for the fact that when I return to my busy office in Chicago, I feel like the butcher who backed into his sausage machine and thus got a little behind in his work.

a shutdown of the steel industry, including the Bethlehem Steel plant in Pottstown.

I get angry every time I read such nonsense. Each year or two the people of the country (not only the steel employees and their families) must sit on edge while these threats are made. Some time they materialize; then again they don't.

But each time it is the same. Men from each side sit down and talk. They don't get much done until the few days before the deadline. But each side, in the meantime, is making a big buildup of its case.

The public—many families—sit and wait it out. The economy of the country slows up. People don't buy what they planned on. So many, many persons are affected indirectly.

This is just plain foolishness. It is an indication of how, though civilized we might be, we haven't grown up.

HOLLYWOOD, July 1—The act Anna Maria Alberghetti and her family have been doing at Las Vegas, has proved so successful that Anna, plus parents, kid brother and kid sister, will be presenting it at the Hollywood Bowl (with kid brother, Paul conducting a 110 piece symphony orchestra!) come July 23. . . . Greer Garson is mentioned as the probable star of "Gertrude Lawrence as Mrs. A." since Paramount purchased the Richard Aldrich big of the late, illustrious Gertie, who achieved fame for both musical and dramatic talents. You can expect practically every top femme in Hollywood to be rumored for this year—undoubtedly one of the plum roles of the coming season. . . . Pontide Laurentis are paying Audrey Hepburn a mere $350,000 for her lengthy engagement in "War and Peace!" Even if that's an exaggerated report, the figure is actually mighty close to above.

Many years ago, Ronald Colman (at the height of his career) drew $300,000 for "Lost Horizons" which took many months to film—but we ain't heard tell of a similar stipend since then!

WE WENT to a snazzy party for Lucius Beebe, former famed po of Manhattan. Lucius now runs The Territorial Enterprise in Virginia City, Nevada, and has made it the West's largest weekly newspaper. An ad in same that tickles us is this: "If Your Business Isn't Worth Advertising—Then Advertise It for Sale!" . . . Corinne Calvet's ex, John Bromfield, and Larri Thomas are due to see a preacher. . . . Corinne's current spouse, Jeffrey Stone is lined up for a featured spot in "Frontier Scout," destined to be Tony Martin's first western.

WE COULDN'T make it to the opening festivities, but California's new tourist spot, Santa's Village is a big, fat treat, according to chums. It's located some ninety miles from Hollywood—in the mountains around Lake Arrowhead and Bill Storthers, who played Santa Claus at Macy's for years, is in charge and still "in character." He makes the place a kiddies dream. There's wildlife in bunches around the place, and real live reindeer pulling people around in a huge sleigh on wheels. The playground is equipped to take care of 10,000 visitors a day. Esther Williams and her kids will be the first celebs photographed for a national magazine amidst the magic of Disneyland, where about 1500 news boys and gals gather from all over the world for a "preview" on July 17.

Pottstown Portraits

A Quick Look at Your Neighbor

By CONNIE MYER

A close shave with the deadly killer, cancer, hasn't been enough to blunt the initiative of 25-year-old Thomas Ewanick, 31 King street.

"Tommy," as he's known by everybody, recovered fully just a few months ago from deep seated cancer of the neck. Now, besides holding down a job in the State Liquor store on High street, he's just opened the only curb service restaurant in Pottstown.

If you talk to him at his restaurant just across the street from Mel and Bud's gas station on Route 122 in Stowe, you'll find an affable young man whose gentle smile belies his drive in life.

If he does a few jitterbug steps on his way to your car with a tray, don't be surprised for dancing is one of his pastimes. More than a pastime, in fact, for he has danced professionally in a New York City club, but gave up a dancing career to join the service.

And the music that comes from a record player inside the restaurant is another of Ewanick's enthusiasms.

He originated the idea of a "candy record," a "package deal" in which youngsters get two small records fastened together. Once the seal is broken, they can eat candy placed inside. The gimmick has been patented and is now on the market.

Doctors told Ewanick that if he had been even a week longer in coming to the hospital for treatment of his neck cancer, it might have been too late.

"I never noticed anything until a friend pointed out a lump on my neck," he said. "After that I went to doctors and finally had the lump cut at Pottstown hospital."

THIS TREATMENT was followed by diagnosis and further treatment at Lankenau hospital, Philadelphia. He was given cobalt rays in 19 separate treatments.

He didn't have much pain from the cancer itself, but felt after-effects of the rays.

His treatments were completed late in 1954 and the early part of this year and he was able to work steadily at the liquor store where he had taken a job soon after discharge from the Army in 1952.

Ewanick, who was born in Pottstown, had entered the Army in July, 1948, when only 18. At that time he was attending dancing school in New York and had been appearing at the Red Parrot club.

"I THOUGHT it would be good to get my service period over with because it was coming up anyway," he explained.

In the infantry, he did some work in Army Special Services, and literally danced his way around Europe, even to tiny Luxembourg where Perle Mesta, famous "Call Me Madam" ambassador, entertained him and other members of his troupe at a lavish dinner.

He served most of the time in and around Nuremberg and Furth, Germany, however. Here he made some contacts with German and Swedish musicians and learned how they were playing jazz.

Coming home to Pottstown in early 1952, he took five months off for rest and relaxation and then started working for the State Liquor authority.

HE WAS one of the venturers in the former Strato Tone Record corporation back in 1952, a company that did special recording of church choirs, school orchestras and remedial reading records for special classes.

He left the company after some time, but the idea of having his own business has always stuck with him.

The life of a dancer is too uncertain for Ewanick and the associations one sometimes finds in the professional world aren't to his liking. He believes he's given that up as a career for good even though he taught dancing for some time at the Bernice March studio in Pottstown.

He hopes he has found something he will like better in his new drive-in restaurant venture.

FRENCH BEES CAN TELL TIME BY STOMACHS

NEW YORK, July 1 (P)—Those visiting French bees are 3000 miles from home. But their appetites still operate on a Paris timetable.

That was the preliminary report today of an experiment on the sense of bees conducted at the American Museum of Natural History by Dr. Max Renner, zoologist of the University of Munich.

On the human plane, the bees' performance might be compared to a blind man catching a bus at the same time every morning even though there was no one to tell him the time.

Dr. Renner flew from Paris June 14 with his 5000 bees.

IN PARIS, he had trained them to forage for sugar water from 8:15 to 10:15 p. m. Paris time, which is five hours ahead of New York time. He wanted to find out whether they could judge time within themselves or whether their judgment was hitched to some external time factor, such as the rhythm of night.

A room at the museum here was converted into a duplicate of the bees' room in Paris.

Well, the transatlantic change in quarters failed to disconcert the bees. They showed up for feeding at 3:15 to 5:15 p. m. EDT, which corresponds to the time they fed in Paris. But it's daylight here and dark in Paris.

Dr. Renner refused to draw any conclusions as yet, since his experiment isn't over.

While here he has trained other bees to feed at 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. New York time. Back in Paris, he wants to see if they will feed at the corresponding Parisian time of 6:30 to 9:30 p. m.

Dr. Renner leaves for Paris with his bees Sunday.

IN THE DAYS OF DAVY CROCKETT

The United States went wild over Jackson, the nation's hero. Andy, however, took it in his stride. He'd just done his duty. And, in doing it, he'd evened the score for the cowardly blow that Redcoat officer had given him when he was just a boy.

The second war with England was over but there was trouble in Florida where, it was reported, the Spanish were arming Indians to fight against the United States. Jackson went there and promptly seized the city of Pensacola. The Spanish cooled off, quick.

Then the people of the United States gave Andy Jackson their greatest reward. They elected him President! And, to prove it was no mistake, they re-elected him! Somehow, the people felt safer with Old Hickory in the White House, watching out for them.

Tuckered out from a long, hard life, Andy Jackson retired and went back to Tennessee to a fine home he'd built there, the Hermitage. It was called. There he spent the evening of life remembering the great days and great men he'd known—like Davy Crockett.

This concludes the story of four heroes of Davy Crockett's time.

Elder J. H. Wagner Addresses Adventist Conference

500 PERSONS HEAR SERMON AT PINE FORGE

A "dreadful day" is about to break upon the world, Seventh Day Adventists of the Allegheny conference were warned at their Pine Forge camp meeting last night.

Elder J. H. Wagner, president of the South Atlantic conference and former Allegheny conference president, was the speaker.

"An awful time is coming for civilization," he predicted. "It is the dreadful day of the Lord—a terrible time when men and women will find the old landmarks gone."

Wearing a white suit, the conference president spoke earnestly to an audience of 500 worshippers in the huge main tent on the meeting grounds.

HIS TEXT was taken from the Fourth chapter of Malachi, in which the Lord promises to send Elijah the prophet before the great and dreadful day of the Lord.

"Elijah came once before," Elder Wagner recalled. "And they didn't know him—they mistreated him as they mistreated the Son of Man."

The speaker explained that Elijah will come with a message of reform to prepare the way for the Second Coming of Christ.

"I'm just an old-fashioned fundamental Seventh Day Adventist," the elder confessed, "with no new-fangled frills, but I've been in this movement long enough to know that Elijah's coming is a definite promise from God."

THE VISITING president also brought a report on his work as head of the southern conference, which set a record for baptisms the past year.

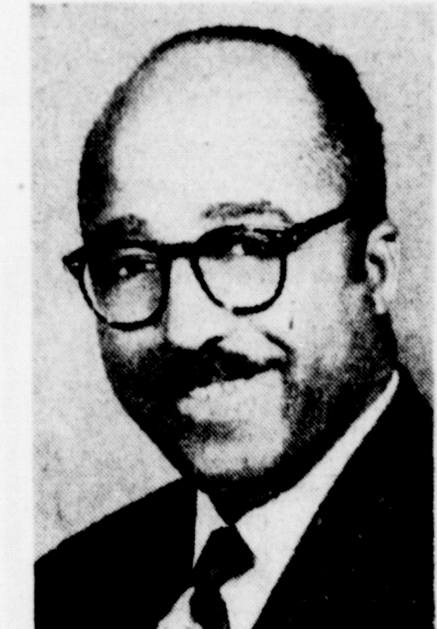

"We baptized 907 souls in one year," he revealed. "The Lord has been good to us in our labors in the South."

He reported that his territory includes 96 churches and companies of Adventists.

Elder Wagner was introduced by Elder William L. Cheatham, Allegheny conference president, after a song service and choral offerings by a 30-voice mixed choir.

AN EXPECTED 4000 persons will pour into the camp meeting grounds today and tomorrow for weekend services in the ten-day series that began Thursday.

High point of today's activities will be an ordination service for two young pastors of the conference.

ELDER J. H. WAGNER SR.

ence. They are C. B. Tivy, Dayton, Ohio, and Milton Thomas, Columbus, Ohio.

The ordination address will be given by Elder Frank L. Peterson, associate secretary of the General Conference, Washington, D. C. The charge will be given by Elder W. L. Cheatham and the ordination prayer by Elder M. S. Banfield.

The hand of welcome will be given the candidates by Elder R. T. Hudson from Cleveland, Ohio.

THE PAIR will be vested with full ecclesiastical authority as a result of the ordination. They have been serving as assistant and associate pastors as well as full district leaders for the past several years.

Now they will be able to perform marriages, baptize and act at all church functions.

The program gets under way this morning at 6:30 o'clock, with a sunrise devotional talk by Elder R. T. Hudson, pastor of the Cleveland Glenview Seventh day Adventist church. Sabbath school will convene at 9:30 o'clock under the direction of Elder M. A. Burgess, Sabbath school secretary of the Allegheny conference.

The morning worship service will convene at 11:30 o'clock and the main speaker will be Elder Frank L. Peterson, of Washington, D. C. A literature rally will convene at 3:30 o'clock directed by Elder H. D. Warner, secretary of the publishing department of the Allegheny conference.

MAIN SPEAKER at the afternoon rally will be Elder James F. Kent, of Washington, D. C., secretary of the publishing department of the Columbia Union Conference, and Frank L. Jones of the Message magazine, Southern Publishing Co.

First Church of Christ Will Open for Worship

Pottstown's newest church will open its doors for worship tomorrow.

The opening service at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, will begin at 11 a. m. in the new church auditorium.

With dignity but without fanfare, the colonial brick church at Prospect and Evans street will be put to its intended use as a house of God.

The first service in the simple but beautiful church will be identical with those in 3000 other Christian Science churches around the world. It will include a Lesson-Sermon and the traditional sacred solo. Mrs. Miriam Reihl will be organist.

The public is invited to share with members of the church this realization of years of planning, working and dreaming for their new church.

After the service, the church and adjoining Christian Science reading room will be open for inspection.

association, Nashville, Tenn. Tonight at 8 o'clock the program will be presented by Elder C. Dunbar Henri, president of the Liberian mission in Africa. He is in this country on furlough and will report to the conference of the advancement of Christian missions in his section of West Africa.

The Sunday program will include talks by Elder M. S. Banfield, secretary-treasurer of the Allegheny Conference; Elder L. R. Preston of the Jersey City church; Elder George E. Peters, pastor of the Elmwood Adventist church, and former secretary of the regional department of the General Conference, and F. L. Peterson.

Separate sessions for young people will be held in several different locations during the weekend. The youth tent will be directed by Elder Addison V. Pinkney, youth secretary of the Allegheny Conference. Mrs. Ernestine Roberts, of Baltimore, is the pianist and Prof. Alonzo Banks, of Harrisburg, first assistant.

A balanced children's program is conducted in their tent under direction of Elder M. A. Burgess. Sabbath school superintendent, Alyce Lewis and Beatrice Linkhorn and associates help implement the program.

Vacation School Concludes for 74 Methodist Pupils

Dolls, greeting cards, scrapbooks and a new youth altar were fashioned by pupils at Coventryville and Nantmeal Methodist churches vacation Bible school.

The two-week school concluded yesterday for 74 pupils and 15 teachers. Classes were conducted at the Coventryville church.

"Personal Growth" was the school theme. Articles made by the pupils were taken along home or sent to Methodist hospitals.

Earl S. Fries was dean of the school and the Rev. Richard T. Hohl, pastor of the two churches, taught the junior class.

Carol Branning was school secretary and Barbara Herpst served as pianist.

Teachers included George Lehman, Mrs. Jane Batdorf, Nancy Branning, Mrs. Dorothy Mourer, Myrna Guest, Mrs. Mary McAfee, Mrs. Ann McAfee, Mrs. Mae Sulmon, Barbara King and Mrs. Zulpha Fulmer.

Local Adventists Attend State-Wide Allentown Confab

Pottstown Seventh Day Adventists heard Kenneth H. Wood, regional Sabbath school director, speak on youth training at the annual state-wide Adventist convocation near Allentown.

Wood spoke to 3000 persons on the part Sabbath schools play in guiding the thinking of youth. They bring peace of mind to the pupils, he said, and the satisfaction of being of use in life.

He also spoke on the work of vacation and branch schools in bringing a sense of religious values to a community.

The Washington church leader appeared on a program featuring speakers from international headquarters in Washington, D. C. and State conference leaders.

The Pottstown membership are availing themselves of practical instruction in Sabbath School leadership and teaching while at the ten-day sessions, which are scheduled to continue until July 9.

Heifer Project Secures Livestock for Europeans

NEW YORK, July 1—The "Heifer Project", which has been securing large shipments of "living relief" from churches and farms of America for the needy of Europe, has these goals for 1955: 1200 cattle, 500 goats, 400 pigs, 100,000 chicks, and 400 packages of honey bees.

Most shipments will go to Austria, the Caribbean countries, Germany, Greece, Central America, Korea, Middle East, and Turkey. The missionary and evangelist. She has taught school and done translations of Scripture and hymn books.

Preparing for Church Addition

Removal of Bodies Starts At Lutheran Church Cemetery

The first two of 175 bodies were removed yesterday from the old Emmanuel Lutheran church cemetery at Hanover and Walnut streets.

Before next month the entire cemetery must be cleared to make way for the church's Sunday school addition to be built on the site.

In the latter part of May the church obtained the permission of the county to re-inter the bodies.

The required hearing was held May 25 at which time the Rev. Krouse testified that the room was needed for the building addition.

THE LAW stipulates, however, that before the removal can be made by the church, the bodies can be claimed by relatives who wish to re-inter them in a place of their own choosing.

Yesterday was the deadline for the claiming of bodies, and only two of the 175 were re-interred.

They were the remains of the great-grandfather and great-grandmother of Mrs. Coleman Root Smith, Bellevue street.

The remains were taken to Mt. Zion cemetery for re-burial.

THE OLDER of the two had been buried in the 150-year-old cemetery for 133 years.

Their ancient tombstones were also removed to the new location.

The Rev. Krouse said that the rest of the bodies would be re-interred under the present Sunday school room.

He said that a bronze tablet containing their names would be placed in the church.

The headstones are to be crushed and used in the new floor planned for the Sunday school room.

The new building and remodeling of the old will cost an estimated $175,000.

Missionary Couple To Describe Work

Thirty years of missionary work in Nigeria, Africa, will be described by a husband-and-wife mission team at the First Church of the Brethren tomorrow night.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Heckman are the visiting speakers. They will show colored pictures of their mission field at the 7 p. m. youth meeting and bring the message at the 8 p. m. worship.

The Heckmans are home on their sixth furlough. While overseas they were in Nigeria 20 years. He as builder of missions; she as a mission treasurer. He also has been administrator, medical missionary and evangelist. She has taught school and done translations of Scripture and hymn books.

BURIED BODIES REMOVED—After 133 years in the ground, the remains of two bodies were removed yesterday from the old cemetery of Emmanuel Lutheran church, Hanover and Walnut streets. The ground of the cemetery is needed for the erection of a $175,000 Sunday school addition to the church. Yesterday the remains of the great-grandfather and great-grandmother of Mrs. Coleman Root Smith, Bellevue avenue, were removed and re-interred in Mt. Zion cemetery. Appearing at ground level are F. Leon Huber and the Rev. Dr. Luther A. Krouse, pastor of the church. Manning the shovel is Nicholas Petro.

General to Receive Holy Orders in Episcopal Church

IRON RIVER, Mich., July 1 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Lester J. Maitland, Michigan aeronautics director, will become lay vicar of St. John's Episcopal church about July 15.

The preaching flier is a candidate for holy orders in the Northern Michigan diocese of the Episcopal church. He plans to be ordained in the Fall.

Gen. Maitland, one time national air speed champion, is sponsored by the Rt. Rev. Herman R. Page, Episcopal bishop of Marquette.

At Iron River, he will take over one of two churches now served by Bishop Page's son, The Rev. Herman R. Page, Jr. The Rev. Page also serves St. Mark's church at Crystal Falls. He will remain at Crystal Falls, assisting Maitland at Iron River.

GEN. MAITLAND has resigned as State Civil Defense director but will continue in his post as aeronautics director until November.

A onetime aide to the famed late Gen. William (Billy) Mitchell, Maitland flew the first plane from California to Hawaii in 1927. Four years earlier he held the national air speed record of 244 miles per hour.

Gen. Maitland was in charge of Clark field in Hawaii when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941. He commanded the 386th bomber group in the European theater during World War II.

WANT ONE GOOD REASON?

Of course you "ought to go to church," you say.

But, you keep putting it off.

Then here's just one of the many reasons why you should start going to church—NOW!

As an American, you like to come and go where you please, and when. You like to speak what you please, and how. You like to pursue life, liberty, and happiness as you will. And in these United States you can—because we still have freedom. You can worship in whatever church you choose—or not at all.

But this freedom of religion and all our other liberties should not be taken for granted. Throughout free countries, the Church is fighting the peril of communism, lest individuals be strangled into hopeless, plodding submission.

Freedom, then, is reason enough. Go to church! Support and uphold the Church—NOW!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'It Takes a Heap o' Livin' To Use Vacation Wardrobe'

By JANET KINDESVATTER
(Mercury Staff Writer)

"If you'll take the kitchen sink out of the suitcase, Ma, maybe I can close it."

That old, old joke contains more truth than the average person realizes—until he begins packing for the annual "holiday trip to the shore."

Everyone begins, with the best of intentions, to pack a bathing suit, a pair of shorts, shoes and perhaps one dress. But, as to all people, comes the realization that the weekend will require more—and more—and MORE.

Until finally, like Mrs. James Sweeney, 959 Warren street, you end up with six suitcases for husband James to squeeze into the family car.

MRS. JAMES F. SWEENEY

The Sweeneys left last night for Spring Lake, N. J., where they'll stay until Monday afternoon.

And for this Mrs. Sweeney "takes just oodles of clothes, because you never can tell what we might decide to do."

JAMES F. SWEENEY

case for cosmetics, my overnight bag, a bag for shoes and for jewelry and accessories, and another large bag—and, oh yes, one bag for Jim's things."

She quickly added that a lot of suitcase room is taken up by the tissue and cardboard she used to

Paul D. Bailey of 410 South street, will add another "very, very large" suitcase plus the necessary train case.

She's prepared for any sort of weather, with a light-weight topper, a stole, a shrug sweater and even an umbrella.

Miss Bailey's weekend wardrobe will contain the two bathing suits everyone is advised to pack, four sports outfits, three pair of shoes and seven dresses.

Enumerating her wardrobe Miss Bailey added, "My, I hope I'll be able to fit all of that into the one case."

Mr. and Mrs. Felker and the young couple departed at the pre-dawn hour of 5 a. m.

Another pair of vacationers, Betty Garner and Shirley Corbett, also figure the unpredictable weather into their packing scheme, with each of them taking a plastic raincoat.

"It's standard equipment, really," said Miss Garner, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garner of 408 Jefferson avenue.

Her luggage requirements are two—one huge suitcase and a train case. "I'm taking a dress for each evening we'll be in Atlantic City—five."

Then she listed: six pairs of shoes ("if you want to count the sneakers"); two pairs of Bermuda shorts; one pair of short-shorts; blouses for each; two bathing suits.

Miss Garner also will pack several sets of jewelry, in order to have a choice of accessories.

"Actually," she added, "I wonder if we'll need all this because we're on the beach from 9 in the morning until 5 in the evening—rain or shine."

"If it rains we just sit on the beach huddled in our raincoats and hope for sunshine."

The two young ladies are driving down with Miss Corbett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Corbett of Douglassville, and returning Thursday night with Mr. Garner.

Miss Corbett's requirements match those of Miss Garner almost exactly—except that she will use three suitcases.

"Most of my dresses have full skirts," she explained. The least of her packing worries is the crinoline petticoat so necessary for the flouffant look. Hers is "very packable—I just roll it up and find a small corner to tuck it in."

"We don't have any plans," said Miss Corbett. "For five days we're just going to lie in the sun."

Of course their vacation plans include a stroll on the boardwalk where they expect to see at least one person they know.

Among the familiar faces they might see will be James Petrucci, James Ruyak or Paul Dallas, who drove to Atlantic City today in the Petrucci automobile.

"Suitcases?" said Mr. Petrucci when questioned. "We're only keep her five or six costumes from wrinkling on the trip.

"Maybe in a few years I'll take less, but we've only been married a year, so Jim can't quite say no to me yet."

But before the men can assume their eternal "Oh, Women" expression, we cite the case of Henry J. Felker Jr., whose four-day trip to Atlantic City will necessitate one large suitcase plus two extra suits hanging in the family car.

The young man spent four years in the U. S. Navy, during which he "lived out of a duffel bag and a foot locker, so I really appreciate being able to pack as much as I want, where I want."

In addition, he admits that "I may have to stuff a few things into my parents' suitcases."

Mr. Felker and his fiancée, Joan Bailey, will make the trip with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Felker Sr. of 503 North Manatoway street.

"Fortunately," said Mrs. Felker laughingly, "we have a large car—we'll need it because Mr. Felker and I are taking four suitcases for the two of us."

CUTTING THE CAKE—Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Daloiso are pictured cutting their mountainous wedding cake at a reception in Maria Assunta hall. The Rev. Francis Suchanek, rector, officiated at the double ring ceremony in St. Gabriel's Catholic church the past Sunday. Mrs. Daloiso is the former Angeline Falcone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincenzo Falcone, Grosstown road, Stowe. Mr. Daloiso is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Daloiso, 543 King street. They are residing with the bridegroom's parents.

Scavenger Hunt, Skating Party Provide Two Nights of Fun for Baptist Youth Group

Members of the Parkerford Baptist Youth group had two busy nights this week. Wednesday evening they elected officers and joined in a Scavenger hunt. Thursday night the group had a roller skating party at Ringing Rocks Park.

Named to office during the business session, Wednesday night, at the church were: president, Tommy Updegrave; vice-president, Wade Bealer; secretary, Kay Boyer and treasurer, Gloria White.

Mrs. Leonard Keene made the list of oddities the young people searched for during the hunt.

The Rev. Earl Marcus, pastor of the church; Mrs. William Schulz and Mrs. Paul Fisher were drivers for the "search."

In Rev. Marcus' car were Bob Kraut, Kay Boyer and Bobby Murray. Mrs. William Schulz chauffeured the second group, Elaine Hatfield, Clarence Collins, Tommy Updegrave and Annabel Ames.

Mrs. Paul Fisher was driver for the winning team, Gloria White, Billy Wilke, Kay Hunt and Wade Bealer.

A weiner roast followed at the Parkerford home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunlap.

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Picnic Closes Season For Auxiliary Quilters

Following a custom established during the quilting season, husbands joined their wives for a picnic meeting of the quilting committee of the auxiliary of the George A. Amole post, unit 47.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Boalton were hosts to the group at their Sanatoga home, Thursday evening.

When the ladies gather at the Post home to quilt each Wednesday during the Winter months, their husbands drop in for lunch. Gives the ladies a day out and the men a home cooked meal, for the food is prepared by members of the committee right at the Legion home.

Three quilts were made during the past season. Tops are pieced by Mrs. Ralph Sooy of Tucson, Arizona and sent to the group in Pottstown. Mrs. Sooy, a former resident of Pottstown, is a past president of the auxiliary and still retains her membership.

Padding, lining, stitching and borders are done by the committee in their weekly quilting sessions. Proceeds from the sale of the quilts are used for welfare work.

Mrs. Harry Ginter was chairman in charge of arrangements for the meeting and picnic supper. Present were: Mr. and Mrs. Ginter, Mr. and Mrs. William Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stott, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stahl, Mr. and Mrs. Nevin Yerger, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Roe.

And, Mr. and Mrs. John Supplee, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Weikel, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Betz, Mrs. Earl Feight, Mr. Russell Benner, Mrs. Hugh Craig, Mrs. Wallace Keyser and Elmer Schott.

Mr. Petrucelli, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Petrucelli, 344 Cherry street, was discharged from the U. S. Army in February, after serving in Germany.

His post-service vacation will include a beach party tonight, plus the lazy days on the beach.

Finally, one blond young lady, who prefers to remain anonymous, said, "Who packs? I used to, but not matter how careful I was I always forgot either suntan lotion, bobby pins or aspirin."

"So now I just toss everything into the back of the car and hope no one is looking when I arrive."

Gloria Ingham Is Bride Of William Joseph Kleman

Gloria Mae Ingham became the bride of William Joseph Kleman the past Saturday in Emmanuel Lutheran church.

The Rev. Dr. Luther A. Krouse, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with palms and carnations.

Miss Ingham is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Ingham, 518 Beech street. Mr. Kleman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kleman reside in Gilbertsville RD 1.

A short organ recital of bridal music by Gordon Baurley preceded the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of rosepoint Chantilly lace and nylon tulle featuring a mandarin collar accented with iridescent and seed pearls. Her sleeves extended to a point on the wrists.

Tiers of lace over tulle adorned her skirt.

A fingertip veil of matching lace fell from her coronet headpiece. She carried a prayer book with an orchid.

Joan Steiner attended the bride as maid of honor. She was attired in a green gown of nylon tulle and Chantilly lace. The strapless bodice featured a draped tulle inset. Her skirt of tulle was accented with vertical bands of lace which ended in nosegays above a pleated flounce.

She wore a sweetheart picture hat adorned with a bow and streamers and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Bridesmaids, Peggy Ingham, sister of the bride; Marie Iswalt, Barbara Fillman and Claudia Shaiko wore gowns of shrimp, yellow, blue and orchid styled as that of the honor attendant.

They carried carnation bouquets matching the color of their gowns.

Deborah Ingham attended her sister as flower girl. She wore a white Cinderella gown.

Kenneth Ingham, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Carl

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM J. KLEMAN

Smith, Rocco Bianchini, Ernest Shultz and Russell Goetz.

A reception in the Elks home for 325 guests followed the wedding. Guests were present from Ohio, New York, Maryland, and Philadelphia.

Mother of the bride, Mrs. Ingham, received in a pink voile dress with an orchid corsage. Mrs. Kleman, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue dress with an orchid corsage.

The new Mrs. Kleman wore a powder blue dress for traveling. They will honeymoon at Lenape village on Fairview Lake at Tafton in the Pocono mountains.

Mrs. Kleman is a graduate of Pottstown High school and is employed as a waitress at the Blossom restaurant. Mr. Kleman is a graduate of Boyertown High school and is employed by the Bell Telephone company.

A pre-nuptial shower was given by the bride's mother, Mrs. Ingham at the Blossom restaurant.

Towne and Country Republican Council To Sponsor Auction

Plans for an auction sale were discussed at a meeting of the executive board of the Towne and Country council of Republican women Thursday evening.

Mrs. Florence Breaks was host to the group in her Linfield road home.

Mrs. Hazel Glenn, president, conducted the business session. Discussion of the auction was led by ways and means chairman, Mrs. Marian Bridgman. Anyone wishing to donate articles for sale may do so by calling Mrs. Bridgman, it was announced.

Program chairman, Letty Haas, announced speaker for a meeting Thursday, July 7, in the Limerick fire hall, will be Peter Frascina, chief probation officer of Montgomery county.

Street Enlarged

The radius of the entrance to Birch street, Boyertown, was enlarged and repaved by borough maintenance men. Birch street is adjacent to the Keystone Fire company's parking lot. It intersects with North Reading avenue and North Chestnut street, running parallel with East Philadelphia avenue and East Fourth street. The borough recently repainted the white dividing lines in the streets with Herbert S. Schultz in charge.

SUMMONS WRONG PETERSBURG, Va., July 1 (AP)—Some Petersburgers are enjoying handing traffic tags to policemen. These are tags the forgetful cops put on the cars on a holiday when parking obligations take a holiday also. Chief W. E. Traylor issued the call for the motorists to turn in the tags — for free.

STATE BOARD LISTS VALUE OF PROPERTIES

Boyertown and surrounding area school districts will be part of the $20 million increase in market value of taxable property in Berks county, the State Tax Equalization board disclosed recently. The 1954 market value, fixed at $704,060,055, of which $353,289,875 was assessed, compared to the 1953 market value, which was $684,740,500, assessed valuations, $234,035,005, showed an increase of four percent. The board is required by law to re-evaluate, revise and adjust annually the market value of each of the 2462 school districts in the State to conform to local economic conditions. Local districts are: Amity township, 1954 market value, $5,811,100; assessed valuation for 1954 county tax purposes, $2,571,475; Bally market value, $2,282,300; assessed value, $224,025.

BOYERTOWN, MARKET value, $13,906,700; assessed value, $7,459,400; Colebrookdale township, market value, $4,702,300; assessed value, $2,198,775; Douglass township, market value, $1,922,350; Earl Township, market value, $2,359,200; assessed value, $1,251,950; Hereford township, market value, $2,420,200; assessed value, $1,106,350. Oley township, market value, $6,197,600; assessed value, $3,211,225, and Washington township; market value, $3,073,400; assessed value, $1,572,850.

The percentage of assessed valuation to market values varies from a low of 38.6 percent, Longswamp, to the high of 67.7 percent, Bechtelsville. John N. O'Neil, chairman of the State Tax board, said the 1954 market value show increases in some districts and decreases in others from the previous year. These adjustments in most cases reflect the influence of local economic conditions, such as urban expansion and rural development. However, any economic changes during 1955 cannot be reflected until the 1955 market values are certified next June.

Heat May Lower Egg Production, County Agent Says

Rapid drop in egg production in early summer may call for culling but, again, it may be the heat. County Agent R. G. Waltz says hot, uncomfortable houses often are responsible for sudden drops in egg production.

It has been proved also, he adds, that excessive heat is responsible for reducing the size of eggs.

Sun shining through glass windows causes excessive heat. For this reason, Waltz advises, all glass windows should be removed or be so opened that the sun does not shine through them.

CROSS VENTILATION is a good way to keep houses cool. Put in more windows if necessary and substitute wire doors for wooden ones.

Another summer comfort for chickens is to have dropping boards under roosts far enough away from the rear wall to permit free movement of air around the birds while they are roosting at night.

Movable droppings pit can be moved from the rear wall to the middle of the house during the hot summer months.

Sudden changes in feeding and management can cause egg slumps. Proper feeding always is important, and it is well to check the birds for lice and mites.

Garden Reminders Listed by Harris

The following reminders on flowers and ornamentals are from Assistant County Agent John P. Harris.

Privet hedges need to be sheared several times during the summer and late June is a good time to shear them a second time.

However, as the hedge grows older it becomes more unmanageable and sooner or later the plants must be cut to the ground level for a new start. Newly planted hedges should be cut back immediately so that new shoots will come from the bottom.

In this way, there is always growth from the ground up. If these privet hedges or other plant materials are permitted to grow to heights anywhere from three feet up and then pruned, the bottom shoot growth will not develop as rapidly or as thickly as with plants cut or pruned when only a foot high.

EVERBLOOMING ROSES should not be pruned severely after the first flower crop. It is best that only the dead blooms be removed and the plants permitted to grow. Hybrid tea roses should have been pruned before active growth had started. However, pruning can still be done safely so long as it is done properly. When cutting the flowers from the hybrid tea rose bushes, cut back to the first five lobed leaves from the point of origination of the shoot.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

Plan Next Year's Pansies Now

By DEAN HALLIDAY

PANSIES are perennials, but are treated as annuals and grown from the tips of the young seed shoots, as seed each year. Make your plans now for next year's pansies for the seeds may be sown in August and the young plants can be wintered over in frames in colder areas.

When growing pansies from seed, select only the best strains from a reliable seed house. It also pays to use fresh seed each year.

If you already have some pansies of the exhibition type or some particularly choice color, you can easily propagate more of them at this time either by "layering" or from cuttings.

Basal shoots are best used for "layering," as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

Six Montgomery County 4-H Members Attend Annual Leadership School

More than 200 4-H Club members and Senior Extension members from over the State, including six from Montgomery county, met at the Pennsylvania State university June 27-July 1 for the 26th Annual 4-H Leadership Training School, according to County Agent Marion Deppen.

At the opening session, H. R. Albrecht, director of agricultural and home economics extension, spoke on "Youth Leaders in a County Extension Program."

The theme for the week was "Improving Family and Community Living." Discussions in group meetings centered on ways that club members can put this theme into action at home.

Montgomery county was represented by 4-H club members: Patsy Haldeman, R.D. Bechtelsville; Barbara Detweiler, Sassamansville; Richard Yeager, R.D. Royersford; and Daniel Rothenberger, R.D.

Hay Crusher Aids Curing, Lessens Weather Hazards

Crushing hay to speed up field curing and thereby eliminate some of the weather hazards that can impair hay quality is being practiced by a number of Montgomery county farms, reports Associate County Agent Marion Deppen.

A hay crusher cracks the stems lengthwise, exposes the moist inner part of the stem to the air and permits fast, uniform curing of the whole plant.

Results of research conducted at University of Illinois shows that crushed hay dries in one-third to two-thirds the time required for uncrushed hay.

First cutting of alfalfa, crushed, dried in 25.3 hours as compared to 52.3 hours for uncrushed.

SECOND CUTTING of alfalfa, crushed, required 23.6 hours; uncrushed 45.3 hours. With crushed red clover hay, 23.3 hours were required as compared to 45.3 hours for uncrushed.

Crushed soybean hay dried in 49.9 hours, the uncrushed in 127 hours. The loss of nutrients in storage was the same for the crushed and uncrushed hay.

There are two major makes of crushers on the market with units designed to fit various farm operations.

One unit, for use with mowers, only crushes the hay, while others do both the cutting and crushing in one operation.

UNDER MOST conditions, a two-plow tractor will provide the power that is needed. In extremely heavy stands of hay and soft or hilly fields, a three-plow tractor is needed. Adjust roller pressure to crush

State 'Farmer' Accepts Pig From City Girl

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 1 (AP)—Pansy, a six-week old pig, is going to a new home soon because her owner, 11 year-old Emmy Lou Murphy, decided the city was no place to raise a pig, especially a girl pig.

Emmy and her 16-year-old brother, George, sat down last week and wrote to a man who owned a farm in Pennsylvania.

Would he take the pig and raise her? She was housebroken and answered to her name. And she's a thoroughbred China Hampshire.

The man wrote back and said he'd be more than pleased to take Pansy, that he'd take good care of her and that he'd "try and remember to send you a photograph of Pansy when she grows up."

So tomorrow, the pig is to be crated and sent to Dwight D. Eisenhower, Gettysburg.

The President added in his letter that he too was sure that Pansy would be happier growing up on a farm.

Department Seeks Broader Powers In Designating Free Wheat Areas

HARRISBURG, July 1 (AP)—The wheat crop will be supported at 76 percent of parity, or $1.81 a bushel, national average.

However, the USDA, as part of a five-point program it announced along with the wheat referendum results, wants to broaden the non-wheat commercial areas. In these areas growers are not subject to acreage control and their price supports are 3/4 the rate that applies in the commercial areas.

New emphasis on such action followed last Saturday's national wheat referendum in which farmers in the so-called commercial wheat growing areas favored marketing quotas on the 1959 wheat crop.

Some 36 states are included in the commercial wheat producing area, counting Pennsylvania. In the nationwide referendum the vote was 77 1/2 percent in favor of marketing quotas, though in Pennsylvania only 32 percent of the farmers eligible to vote in the referendum favored marketing quotas.

The result means next year's

GROW LIKE YOU START... with BASIC NUTRITION

There's no one magic ingredient in Beacon feeds. No one has yet demonstrated ability to lift a price-minded feed by its bootstraps... you cannot make a good ration out of one that is basically unsound.

You'll find better results with Beacon are due to a skillful balance of the basic ingredients, well known for their feeding value... and... the generous use of the critical factors which, as you would expect, are not the cheapest.

Yet in the end, you'll find growers say, "Beacon costs a bit more (per bag) to buy... but it costs less to feed... results are better too." Isn't that the important thing?

Rocky Fights Archie Sept. 20

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—Rocky Marciano will defend his world heavyweight boxing title against Archie Moore, the 38-year-old light-heavy king, in a 15-round match, Tuesday, Sept. 20 at New York's Yankee stadium.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing club, predicted the bout would draw a gate of $750,000 with an additional $250,000 to be taken in by theater network television. There will be no home television but negotiations are under way for a radio broadcast.

Announcing the match at a press conference in his office at Madison Square Garden, Norris said that Marciano will get 40 percent of the net gate and Moore staged Sept. 21 or Sept. 22, depending on the weather.

ALTHOUGH the New York Yankees may be playing in the World Series at the stadium, starting Sept. 28, Norris said arrangements had been made to use the field as a "personal favor" by Dan Tompkins going on sale the night of the game.

Norris said the tickets would be scaled from $40 to $100 with a limited number of general admission seats going on sale the night of the game.

Phils Beat Giants, 9-3, As Roberts Wins His 11th

PHILADELPHIA, July 1 (AP)—A five-run eighth inning—powered by two-run doubles by Mary Blaylock and Jim Greengrass—put the clincher on Robin Roberts' 11th win of the season tonight as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the New York Giants 9-3. Gail Harris homered for the losers.

Whitely Lockman was tossed out of the game for protesting too loudly on a third called strike in the seventh inning and Manager Leo Durocher followed him to the showers when he joined the argument.

Roberts, who has lost seven, fanned seven and was tight-fisted with hits except for two innings, including the third, when New York got its first run on three hits—a single by Johnny Antonelli, a double by Whitely Lockman and a single by Don Mueller. Roberts walked only one.

Baker Hits "Slam" As Cubs Sock 4 To Top Cards, 11-7

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 11-7 for the sixth straight time today with the aid of four home runs, including the first grand-slammer of Gene Baker's major league career.

ST. LOUIS, July 1 (AP)—The Cardinals, who have lost only two games, has now pitched 29 consecutive scoreless innings.

Doby's homer, his eighth of the season, came in the fifth inning off southpaw Billy Pierce, who had beaten the Indians in two previous games.

The victory moved the Indians to within a half-game of the second place White Sox, who have now lost six straight. The White Sox are 6 1/2 games behind the New York Yankees, who won today.

Yanks, of course, will receive a sizeable rental.

Al Weill, Marciano's manager, and Charlie Johnston, Moore's manager, both talked about a "million dollar gate or better."

However, there has not been a million dollar gate since the Joe Louis-Billy Conn rematch, June 19, 1946, which drew $1,925,564 at $100 tops, the second highest receipts of all time. Only the Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney second fight at Chicago in 1927 was higher with its gross of $2,638,660.

Judging from the fans' reaction since Moore knocked out middleweight champion Bobo Olson last week at the Polo Grounds, this match packs more appeal than any of Marciano's five previous defenses.

The biggest gate the Rock has drawn was the $543,092 for his first match with Ezzard Charles in June, 1954.

Unbeaten in 48 pro fights with 41 knockouts, Marciano already has been made a 13-5 favorite.

That is the low mark for Marciano since he won the title as a 2-1 favorite, by knocking out Jersey Joe Walcott at Philadelphia in 1952. Victories over Nino Valdes and Olson, and a smart publicity campaign have made Moore a popular figure.

Zaichin Hits 16th Homer in 13th to Give Bosox Win

BALTIMORE, July 1 (AP)—Norm Zaichin's homer in the 13th inning broke a 3-3 deadlock and gave Boston a 4-3 victory over Baltimore tonight after Red Sox reliever Leo Kieley and Ellis Kinder had held the Orioles to one hit in the last eight innings.

Zaichin's homer into the left-field seats, his 16th of the season, with one out in the top of the 13th inning, gave the Red Sox their 20th victory in 25 games.

The Birds had appeared headed for their first win in 10 games in the early stages as outfielder Dave Pope battled out two singles and a double in his first three trips to the plate and scored two of the Orioles runs.

Kluszewski Pokes 24th Home Run in Redlegs' 14-2 Win

CINCINNATI, July 1 (AP)—Big Ted Kluszewski, who couldn't get a hit for the Cincinnati Redlegs in his last two games, tonight homered with a man aboard in the first inning to start a scoring spree which sent the Milwaukee Braves reeling to a 14-2 defeat. The defeat pushed the Braves into third place behind the Chicago Cubs.

Big Klus' 24th round tripper tied him with Brooklyn's Duke Snider for the lead in the National League home run race. Also homering for the Reds were Gus Bell, with two teammates on base, Smoky Burgess and Wally Post. It was No. 17 for Post and No. 10 for both Bell and Burgess.

Power's Homer Helps A's Take 2 From Detroit

KANSAS CITY, July 1 (AP)—Vic Power's seventh inning leadoff homer ignited a 7-run rally that brought Kansas City a 7-5 victory over Detroit tonight and gave the Athletics a sweep of a two-night doubleheader. The A's took the opener, 3-2, on the home run hitting of Bill Wilson and Joe Astroth.

Reliable Tom Gorman came on in the eighth of each game to squelch the Tigers' retaliatory ambitions. He relieved Clyde Boyer who had pitched four-hit ball until he lost his control in the opener.

Then he came on as the Athletics' fourth hurler in the second game

'Ford School Board Holds Discussion On Plans for New Elementary School

Royersford school board moved its monthly meeting ahead to complete a fiscal year because of the first Monday in July coming on a holiday, July 4.

The board met Thursday night in the high school office and after dispensing with routine business, devoted a lengthy discussion to plans for the new elementary school building.

The architect, Joseph Wigmore, presented final blue print for the new building for the approval of board members, with members of the building authority present for the first time at a joint session with the school board.

A lengthy discussion ensued over every detail before specifications are filed with the State for final approval, preparatory to asking for bids for construction of the building, to be located adjacent to the present elementary building and across Spring street.

MEMBERS OF the building authority, who will arrange for the financing of the structure are Howard Kline, William Peach, Paul Isett, Louis Fopeano and Harry Hershey.

Board members present were Paul Krasley, president; Lloyd Brownback, Russell Keen and Donald Maier, Dr. O. C. Kuntzman, supervising principal, and the secretary, Mrs. Sarah Huzzard also attended.

During the meeting, the board agreed to support Temple university survey team's recommendation on site relative to the selection of a site for the proposed new senior high school for Spring-Ford joint school district. At the recent meeting of the joint school board the Temple survey report recommended a new Senior high school be built on land to be acquired adjoining the present Royersford high school. It was reported each board of the four districts must approve the recommended site by a majority of three members before the joint board can act on the matter.

Evangelical Church Schedules Service

Beginning tomorrow morning the worship service in Spring City First Evangelical and Reformed church will start at 8:30 o'clock.

This schedule will continue throughout the months of July and August. Ballots taken in the congregation indicated a desire for this action. The time of the church school will remain at 9:45 a. m.

A project to zone the church heating plant and convert to an oil burner is about completed. The cost was about $4000. An improvement fund set up to meet this need has already accumulated approximately two-thirds of the needed amount. Members who attended Communion services the past Sunday gave substantial gifts toward this project.

PERSONALS

David Anderson, Dallas, Texas, is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Anderson, 126 North Fourth avenue, Royersford.

Do You Remember?

Those grand old days when Pottstown and area was in its infancy—Here's another photo that may recapture a few moments of eternity for you, a picture to stir your memory and let you catch a glimpse of the past.

It cost pupils 6 cents a day to attend the little red school in Colebrookdale township the Year this picture was taken. This was in 1895, in the days before public schools and regular salaries for teachers. Jesse F. Bechtel (in doorway) was the school's teacher for several generations, and he was a scholarly figure in frock coat, high collar and full beard. Some of his male pupils seem to be trying to outdo the schoolmaster in dress. They're wearing watch-chains and flowers in their buttonholes. Girls seem content in high-button shoes and calico. Pupils in first row, left to right, are Samuel Weiss, Wayne Kuser, Clinton Weller, John Ackerman, Lizzie Coleman, Ida Conrad, Annie Bechtel, Katie Garber, Ida

Haring, Annie Garber, Katie Conrad, Mina Strunk and Annie Lorah; second row, same order, Ambrose Wolfgang, Charles Wolfgang, Orlando Kuser, Morris Lorah, Edward Hausman, Jefferson Wolfgang, William Ettinger, Camilla Wolfgang, Sally Lorah, Amy Weller, Laura Lorah, Laura Schoenly and Lucy Endy; third row, Elmer Conrad, Sally Conrad, Ella Haring, Olivia Moyer, Bertha Ettinger, Charles Ettinger, Wallace Kuser, Henry Bechtel, Harvey Heacock, Harrison Moyer, Allen Bechtel, Llewellyn Lorah, Morris Hausman and Warren Ritter. Morris Hausman, veteran Colebrookdale school director, is owner of the picture. He remembered names of all the pupils.

Marvin Benner, Paul Hendricks and Norman Yoder.

Services for E. RAYMOND MOHR, 53, who died of a heart attack at a viewing in his funeral parlor, Main and Spruce streets, BIRDSBORO, Thursday night, will be held from his funeral parlor Tuesday at 2 p. m.

John H. Henninger Jr., a friend of the family will be in charge of arrangements. Interment will be in St. Michael's cemetery.

Funeral services for NORMAN AUGUSTUS MAYBERRY, 111 EAST RACE STREET, STOWE, husband of Elizabeth (Hafer) Mayberry, were held yesterday at 2 p. m. from the Houck Funeral home, 112 North Washington street, with the Rev. Arthur S. Hansor, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church, Stowe, officiating.

Honorary bearers were Harold Maurar, and David and George Emerick. Active bearers were Donald, Daniel and Oliver Mayberry, Roy Schweitzer, Clarence Freese and George Yost.

2 Boys Drown in River In Fishing Accident

PHILADELPHIA, July 1 (AP)—Two boys, one 10 and the other 13, drowned in the Schuylkill river today, apparently when they tumbled into the water while fishing.

The victims, whose bodies were recovered a short time later, were identified as Ellis Palmer, 10, and Adolph Sincavage, 13, both of Philadelphia.

OBITUARIES

CLARENCE S. LUDWIG, 57, BIRDSBORO RD 2, died of a heart attack at 3 p. m. yesterday after finishing his shift at the Birdsboro Steel Foundry and Machine company.

Ludwig was stricken while walking toward his car prior to leaving for his home.

The son of the late Kathryn M. Snyder, he had been employed by the Birdsboro company for the past 37 years.

He was a member of the Schwarzwald Reformed church of Jacksonwald, the Reading Eagle Home company, the United Steel Workers of America, and Orioles Nest 116 of Birdsboro.

He is survived by two cousins, William and Stanley Snyder, of Birdsboro.

Services will be from the Lutz Funeral home, 2100 Perkiomen avenue, Reading, Wednesday, at 1 p. m. The Rev. Warren Breisch, pastor of the Schwarzwald Reformed church will officiate. Interment will be in Schwarzwald cemetery, Jacksonwald.

Services for MAURICE R. BOYER, 68, of 628 MAIN STREET, RED HILL, treasurer of the Red Hill School board for 28 years, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in Pennsburg Evangelical and Reformed church. He died Wednesday at his home.

Mr. Boyer had also served as treasurer of the Upper Perkiomen Joint School board for the past two years.

He had been employed as a clerk for the Reading company for the past 30 years, working for some time at Red Hill and in recent years at Pennsburg.

He had been a member of the Red Hill board since 1925 and on the joint board since its organization three years ago.

Members of the Red Hill board will select a director to fill Mr. Boyer's unexpired term, ending Dec. 31, at a regular meeting at 8 p. m. Tuesday at Red Hill school.

Mr. Boyer was a member of the Lutheran Wing of Old Goshenhoppen church, Woxall; Perkiomen Lodge 595, F & AM; of East Greenville; Lehigh Consistory, Allentown; Loyal Order of Moose 1622, Quakertown, and Red Hill Fire company.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Katie (Fillman) Boyer; two sons, Loraine, Elsmere, Del.; and Harold, Emmans; two brothers, Henry, Telford, and Jesse, Tylerport; a sister, Laura, wife of John Hutt, Upper Darby, five grandchildren, and a great-grandchild.

JULIANNA (JEZNACH) MARKS, 64, READING, mother of Anthony Marks, 363 Beech street, died Thursday afternoon at her home following a long illness.

She was the wife of Michael S. Marks. The daughter of the late Adam and Katherine (Ososka) Jeznach, she was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church and its St. Ann's society. She was also a member of the Ladies' auxiliary and the Knights of St. Casimir.

Surviving besides her husband and son, Anthony, are the following children: John, Mrs. Mary Ann Lawrence, Jennie, wife of Ted Klimkowski and Anna, wife of Walter Leis, all of the Reading area; 8 grandchildren; and the following sisters and brothers: Josephine, wife of Walter Suski, of Reading, Stella, in Poland; Alexander, Walter and Wallace, all of Reading.

Funeral services will take place Monday morning, 8 p. m. from the Gallman Funeral home, Reading. Solemn high requiem mass will be offered in St. Mary's church at 9 a. m. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery, Reading.

Services for BERTHA A. (HARTENSTINE) LUDWIG, widow of the late Edgar Ludwig, 602 HIGGINS STREET, were held at 2 p. m. yesterday afternoon at the Harley and Slean Funeral home, 404 High street.

Officiating was the Rev. Paul C. Scheirer, pastor of St. John's Reformed church. Interment was in Edgewood cemetery.

Bearers were Morris Ludwig, Clyde Montgomery, Charles Shalkop and William Kepp.

LOCAL BRIDGE TO BE REPAIRED BY RAILROAD

Repairs on the South Charlotte street bridge over the Reading company railroad tracks will start a week from Monday, Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden said yesterday.

Plans to repair the bridge were set into motion this Spring when it was discovered that the front ends of the main timbers supporting the railings were rotting.

Frederick K. Kendall, general agent of the Reading company in Pottstown, investigated the bridge early in March.

At that time he said that the bridge was not in unsafe condition, but promised that something would be done.

The plans call for putting in new steel beams and a new wooden flooring for the bridge. It will raise the capacity of the bridge from three to five tons.

GULDEN SAID that the bridge would be closed to all vehicular traffic for around three weeks as the work goes on. Pedestrian traffic, however, would remain open, he said.

The barricade for motor traffic will be placed just off the entrance to the bridge on the north side. Only southbound traffic is permitted in that block of Charlotte street.

Gulden said that traffic entering the block would turn left onto Queen street toward South Evans street or right toward South Hanover street.

Queen street is narrow in those blocks, and only one way traffic is permitted.

GULDEN SAID that if traffic gets too heavy for the street as a result of the present plan, the barricades would have to be moved out to the High street entrance to South Charlotte street.

Although the bridge is maintained by the Reading company, any plans for repairs or replacements must be approved by the borough.

The present plans for repairs were approved by council this Spring. They were submitted by F. W. Filtz, Philadelphia, chief engineer of the Reading company.

Kendall said yesterday that the repair work would be done by the Mayer Pollock company.

The South Charlotte street bridge is one of four maintained by the company. The others span South Washington, South Evans and South Franklin streets.

Crash-Proof Auto To Be Designed By Laboratory

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 1 (AP)—The Cornell Aeronautical laboratory will try to design an automobile that can take a "severe head-on crash" without injury to its occupants.

Edward R. Dye, head of the laboratory's industrial division said today that the project would be a "paper study" aimed at interesting the public and manufacturers in "many of the safety innovations that are possible."

Officials at the laboratory have labeled their project the "car of tomorrow."

It will be sponsored by the Liberty Mutual Insurance company of Boston, Dye said.

"We will try to incorporate findings of the laboratory's research in the last three years into the design of a full-scale auto body which will better protect auto occupants," Dye explained.

THESE, DYE declared, are some of the features possible for the injury-proof car:

Elimination of the steering wheel in favor of levers on either side of the driver.

A dash panel that pulls out and "wraps around" the driver to prevent his being thrown forward into the windshield or other obstruction.

Adding material in areas where the head might strike in a crash.

Additional steel in the mid-section of the car to prevent its collapse when rolled over.

Side bumpers to increase structural stiffness.

"These ideas are, of course preliminary and our final decisions will depend upon our design study," Dye said.

Allenstown Boy Elected Boys' State Governor

LOCK HAVEN, July 1 (AP)—A 16-year-old Allenstown boy today was named Governor of the Keystone Boys' State, a boys' camp sponsored by the Pennsylvania American Legion.

Boy Kenneth Yeager, running on the Conservative ticket, defeated Donald E. Virgin, Millsboro, the Nationalist candidate.

The boys have been spending a week at the camp conducted on the campus of Lockhaven State Teachers college.

Clifford Chafey, Radio Official, Retires After 32-Year Career

Clifford M. Chafey, sales manager of a radio station for the past four years, retired yesterday after a career of 32 years in the radio business.

Chafey, who lives at Fleetwood RD 3, originated the first radio station in the area, getting a license on June 26, 1922, for a 250-watt station in Reading.

At that time there were only about 25 other radio stations in the entire country and licenses were issued by the Department of Commerce. The Federal Communications commission had not yet been organized.

Chafey became president of the former Reading Broadcasting corporation in 1930. On Jan. 12, 1932, he received another grant for a 1000-watt station in Reading.

SELLING BOTH stations in 1945, he was retained by one station as general manager for the Halley Broadcasting corporation. He developed an FM station for the corporation and made an application in 1947 to the FCC for the first television station in Reading. The application was not granted, however, because of a "freeze" order on new TV stations at that time.

He assumed his position as sales manager in August of 1951. A charter member of the Radio Pioneers of America, he is a former national director of the National Association of Broadcasters.

A native of Reading, he is a graduate of Reading High school and the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania.

University of Pennsylvania.

HE IS a member of the Masons and the Shrine and the Pottstown Good Fellowship club. He is a past president of the Reading Lions club.

Married to the former Carrie Byler of Reading, Chafey has one daughter, Mrs. Robert Gansel, Los Angeles, whose husband is on the faculty of the University of California at Los Angeles, and two granddaughters.

Chafey plans to spend his post-retirement days at his farm "Chafey Home Manor" at Fleetwood RD 3.

He says activities of the Oley Fire company and the Oley Community Fair association will occupy some of his time.

Two Autos Damaged In High Street Crash

Two automobiles received slight damage in an accident yesterday morning on High street near York street.

A coupe driven by Alvin Mogel, 114 South Keim street, was pulling away from a parking place when it was struck by the sedan driven by Mrs. Della Skean, 522 North Washington street.

The left front fender of Mogel's car and the right rear fender of Mrs. Skean's car were pushed in. The accident occurred at 9:40 a. m.

Birdsboro RD 2 Driver Listed as Fair After Collision With Tractor Trailer

George Ramsey, 38, Birdsboro RD 2, was reported in "fair" condition yesterday at Pottstown hospital after an early morning collision with a tractor trailer on Route 73 one mile west of Boyertown.

He was admitted at 2:30 a. m. with cuts on the scalp, bruises and bruise burns about his face and entire body, and possible internal injuries.

The accident occurred at 1:25 a. m.

Ramsey was traveling west on Route 73 approaching a bend in the road. His panel truck entered the opposite lane in the face of an oncoming tractor trailer driven by Earl R. Leiby, Breinigsville, Berks county.

LIEBY CUT to the left to avoid the accident and the two vehicles collided head-on in the center of the road.

Ramsey, thrown from his truck, wasn't found until ten minutes later by Leiby about 90 feet off the road.

He was in a semi-conscious state, when the Boyertown ambulance arrived to take him to the hospital.

Ramsey's truck was completely demolished, and $100 damages were caused to the front of the huge truck.

Trooper Joseph Demnitzki, of the Reading State police, investigated.

3 Boys to Enter Navy on July 4

The Fourth of July will have added patriotic significance for three Douglassville youths.

For on Monday the three 18-year-olds will leave for duty with the U. S. Navy.

Leaving Reading with the Distelfink company will be Frank A. Wunderlich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garson Wunderlich Sr., Charles E. Hine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hine, and Frederick F. Underkoller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Underkoller, all of Douglassville.

The three are graduates this year of Amity High school, where all were active in sports.

They will undergo basic training at the Bainbridge Naval Base, Md.

U. S. College Students To Aid Refugee Village

NEW YORK, July 1—Dornbreite, Germany, a Methodist refugee village northeast of Hamburg, will have a new building constructed by American college students from a Methodist work camp this Summer.

The European Work Camp, sponsored by the Methodist Student Movement with the cooperation of the Board of Missions of the Virginia Annual Conference, is recruiting 20 students. Dornbreite at present consists of 33 houses, a church, an old people's home with 15 rooms for elderly couples or single men and women.

This little village has three main streets with Methodist names, Wesleystrasse, Nuelsenstrasse, and Melleweg (the latter names after Bishops Nuelsen and Melle). The boy refugee area is known as the Bishop Semmer Settlement.

The European work camp combines travel seminar features with the intensive work at Dornbreite where students will assist German people in building refugee housing.

Who is John Smith? He may be the typical Pottstown vacationist, or the man next door.

He didn't put his home address on his card to the Vacation Editor, so it's hard to place John Smith.

His name is familiar, but who is he? It's possible he's a trailer resident who takes his home with him.

Today's No. 1 correspondent is also first in the Vacation Editors' heart. He gave his full name, middle initial, street address, hometown and state.

George P. Kovach Jr., 353 Cherry street, is the considerate correspondent. You'll notice he also put the "Jr." to his name, so there's no confusing him with his father.

"Hiya," Kovach writes, "Spending the whole week of the Fourth of July in Atlantic City, N. J., and having a lot of fun. Getting a nice tan, too."

LIEBY CUT to the left to avoid the accident and the two vehicles collided head-on in the center of the road.

Ramsey, thrown from his truck, wasn't found until ten minutes later by Leiby about 90 feet off the road.

He was in a semi-conscious state, when the Boyertown ambulance arrived to take him to the hospital.

Ramsey's truck was completely demolished, and $100 damages were caused to the front of the huge truck.

Trooper Joseph Demnitzki, of the Reading State police, investigated.

3 Boys to Enter Navy on July 4

The Fourth of July will have added patriotic significance for three Douglassville youths.

For on Monday the three 18-year-olds will leave for duty with the U. S. Navy.

U. S. College Students To Aid Refugee Village

NEW YORK, July 1—Dornbreite, Germany, a Methodist refugee village northeast of Hamburg, will have a new building constructed by American college students from a Methodist work camp this Summer.

The European Work Camp, sponsored by the Methodist Student Movement with the cooperation of the Board of Missions of the Virginia Annual Conference, is recruiting 20 students. Dornbreite at present consists of 33 houses, a church, an old people's home with 15 rooms for elderly couples or single men and women.

This little village has three main streets with Methodist names, Wesleystrasse, Nuelsenstrasse, and Melleweg (the latter names after Bishops Nuelsen and Melle). The boy refugee area is known as the Bishop Semmer Settlement.

The European work camp combines travel seminar features with the intensive work at Dornbreite where students will assist German people in building refugee housing.

POTTSTOWN MAN HURT IN 3-CAR READING CRASH

A 63-year-old Pottstown man was injured in a three-car collision yesterday afternoon at the intersection of Fifteenth street and Perkiomen avenue in Reading.

James Nicholas, 154 King street, was reported in "good" condition last night at St. Joseph's hospital, Reading, where he was taken for bruises of the right leg and a chest injury.

Four other persons, all young persons were injured in the crash.

Admitted to St. Joseph's were Joyce Rader, 17, of Reading, with a brain concussion; her sister, Patricia, 16, a fracture of the right knee and cuts of the right arm.

TREATED AT the hospital were Marilyn Hill, 17, Mohnton RD 1, and Robert Rude, 20, of Reading, for bruise burns of the face and body.

Nicholas was driving one car west on Perkiomen avenue when he collided with another car driven by Rudy and the third vehicle operated west on Perkiomen by Milton W. Reinert, 20 H. street, Penn Village. Reinert was uninjured.

Rudy, who had the injured girls as his passengers, was proceeding north on Fifteenth street when the accident occurred.

still or the moonshine whiskey.

But Guldin didn't believe the father and brought a charge of manufacturing alcohol for use as a beverage against him.

HOWEVER, GULDIN is continuing his investigation and is on the trail of the three men the Bauchmans claim are involved.

The receipt he found bears the name of a man who sold the four gallons of fuel oil. The empty fuel cans were found near the still.

Guldin just missed capturing the moonshiners at work early Thursday morning.

He and South Coventry Constable Howard G. "Sax" Seibold, after finding the still earlier this week, hid themselves near it until 2 a. m. Thursday.

Then they left. When Guldin returned the next afternoon, the still was hot from use, ashes still glowing in the "stove."

After waiting 20 minutes he heard a twig snap.

He hid behind a tree, pistol drawn, and waited until the two jug-bearing Bauchmans walked to within 15 feet of him.

He jumped from behind the tree and arrested both of them.

side of the road.

Passing motorists pulled her out from behind the wheel.

At first there was some difficulty in identifying her because her purse was missing, but it was found later in the wreckage.

State Troopers Arthur MacAnally and Stanley Kramer from Reading barracks investigated.

The crash occurred about 9:15 p. m. Mrs. Egrie was admitted to Memorial hospital about 11:30 p. m.

Area Driver Rams Bridge Abutment; Blinded by Lights

A 39-year-old Uwchlan driver was injured early this morning when he ran into a bridge abutment on Route 100 at Kirkwood.

The man, Julius Kennedy, said he was blinded by the lights of an approaching vehicle.

He was taken to Pottstown hospital by Good Will ambulance at 2 a. m. where he was treated for abrasions of the nose and forehead.

"I was just lucky I wasn't killed," Kennedy said. He was returning from Allentown where he is employed as a construction worker.

His four-door sedan was termed a total wreck. Paoli State police are investigating.

Cab Driver Foils $3600 Robbery At Supermarket

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 1 (AP)—"Attention everybody," blared the supermarket loudspeaker today. "This place is being robbed. There are six of us among you on the floor."

"Don't anyone make a move or it will be your last. Stand by for further instructions."

Upstairs in the market office stood assistant manager Charles Lounsbury, the microphone in his hand and a bandit's gun in his ribs.

The man holding the gun had handed Lounsbury the note he read over the speaker. Then the gunman stuffed $3600 in cash and $66,000 worth of blank travelers checks into a gunny sack.

A CAB driver, Herbert E. Scofield, saw him flee and gave chase. Over the cab radio he gave a running account to his dispatcher who in turn gave it to police.

The fleeing man tried to switch cars but two officers nabbed him and recovered the loot.

A police headquarters the man was identified as Jack A. Merritt, 20, a former employee of the market.

"I was $1000 in debt and this looked like a good way out," officers quoted him. He was booked for investigation of armed robbery.

EXPLOSIVE PONTIAC, Mich., July 1 (AP)—The 2 a. m. quiet was shattered by what sounded to Patrolman James L. Ockerman like bombs going off.

Around the corner he found Abel A. Asocar, 37, morosely tossing bottles of beer into the air and listening to them bang in the street. As Asocar tossed No. 30, Ockerman arrested him on a disorderly charge. Asocar told Ockerman it was his way of "forgetting" a girl friend who had just jilted him.

JUNE HOSPITAL ADMISSIONS HIT ALL-TIME PEAK

The number of patients admitted to Memorial hospital during June set an all-time high for the hospital.

A total of 452 men, women and children were admitted during the 30-day period.

Of that number, 229 persons were operated on, which also set a new record for a one-month period.

The average number of patients for one month is about 375, hospital authorities said.

BUT IN June of 1954, a total of 436 persons were admitted.

A hospital spokesman said the record number of admissions could be explained at least in part by hospitalization insurance plans.

"Many people who were being treated as out-patients before are now remaining overnight. The hospitalization plans require that a person remain overnight before he or she is eligible for benefits," the spokesman said.

Another factor in the increased admissions is, of course, the continued population increase in and around Pottstown.

3 Pottstown Men Get State Jobs

Three Pottstown men have been appointed to positions in the cigarette tax division of the State Department of Revenue, it was announced last night by Maurice Miller, chairman of the borough Democratic committee.

They are Joseph Kraynak, 179 North Franklin street; Donald Bechtel, 451 Chestnut street, and G. Ammon Davidheiser, 1059 Queen street.

They received official notification of their appointment by Governor Leader yesterday.
